REPORT OF THE SECRETARY.

CINCINNATI, January 15, 1906.

H. LEE EARLY, President,

Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce and Merchants' Exchange:

DEAR SIR:—In accordance with a custom which is connected with my official duties, I have the honor to present a brief review or reference to the current actions and affairs of the Chamber of Commerce for the year which has closed with this date. Necessarily in a report of this character covering the period of a year's activities, only matters of a general interest to the membership can appropriately be introduced.

Generally speaking the year which has just closed may be classified as a successful and prosperous year in the affairs of the Chamber, marked by several innovations in the trading departments, which are calculated to improve conditions and to broaden the usefulness and authority of the Chamber, which features will be more fully referred to elsewhere in this report.

The membership of the Chamber of Commerce shows an enrollment on January 1, 1906, of 902 certificate members, 5 non-certificate members, and 7 honorary members, a total of 914. There were 20 certificates of membership forfeited at the close of the year, December 31, 1905, for the non-payment of annual dues.

The financial exhibit of the Chamber for the year 1905 shows a material improvement in conditions over the preceding year. An analysis of the Treasurer's Report for the year ending December 31, 1905, shows aggregate receipts from all sources of revenue, $63,383.39; aggregate disbursements for current operating expenses in all departments, including interest on bonds and taxes, amounting to $53,075.62; a nominal excess of receipts over expenditures of $10,307.77. Compared with the preceding year the Treasurer's Report shows in call loans borrowed, $6,000 in 1905, as against $20,000 in 1904. Of the loans made in 1904, $10,000 of the amount were paid off during the year 1905, leaving a total of $16,000 outstanding at the close of the fiscal year December 31, 1905, which it is fair to assume will be largely reduced out of the revenues for 1906. The Treasurer's Report further shows an outstanding bonded debt of $125,000, which is due and payable January 1, 1908. An extraordinary expenditure in the Building Department for 1905 was that of $7,871.32 for the completion of contracts for the equipment of the new electric light plant commenced in 1904. This expenditure together with payments made in 1904 of $1,274.90, brings the total cost of the new plant as an entirety to $9,146.22, a figure which materially exceeds the original estimate. Under the operation of the new plant, which began February 1, 1905, there has been a great improvement in the service of this department, as well as an economy in its management. The expenditures for electric current which we had secured from the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. under contract during the period of repairs in the engine room and construction of the new plant, aggregated $7,874.12, an amount largely approaching the cost of the completed plant. From all standpoints the new plant is regarded satisfactory and up to expectations, and has proven itself a good investment.

The Chamber has maintained an identity as constituent member of local organizations: Cincinnati Industrial Bureau, Receivers and Shippers Association, Business Men's Benevolent Advisory Association, as well as the newly formed Cincinnati Associated Organizations. The Chamber also continued its membership in the National Board of Trade and the Ohio State Board of Commerce, and was represented by delegates to the annual meeting of the former in Washington, January 17, 1905; to the Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration, May 31, 1905; Grain Dealers National Association, Niagara Falls, June 2 and 3, 1905; National Hay Convention, Toledo, Ohio, July 18 to 20, 1905; Reciprocity Convention, Chicago, August 16 and 17, 1905; International Congress of Chambers of Commerce, Liege, Belgium, September, 1905; Good Roads Convention, Cincinnati, September 25 and 26, 1905; Inter-State Commerce Law Convention, Chicago, October 26 and 27, 1905; Ohio Valley Improvement Association, Cairo, Ill., November 15 to 17, 1905.

In the way of local activities, the Chamber participated with other bodies in the movement for the entertainment of the Rivers and Harbors Committee of Congress on its visit to Cincinnati in May, 1905, also the plan of securing from the postal authorities the establishment of a pneumatic mail tube service in Cincinnati; and the movement to secure governmental construction of ice piers at Cincinnati to afford protection to craft on the Ohio River against damage by flowing ice, was inaugurated and committee appointed in September, 1905.

Another question of local importance upon which the Board of Directors was called to take action was that of a protest of merchants and others doing business on the Public Landing and in the bottoms, against the proposed plan for the elevated tracks of the L. & N. R. R. about to be constructed across the Public Landing, which it was claimed would be a serious obstruction of traffic, especially at the street intersections of Broadway, Sycamore, Main and Walnut streets. The subject was referred to a committee which was divided in its conclusions, a majority report, which, while not unqualifiedly approving of the general plans for the work, yet in view of differences of opinion and the fact that the work was well under way, concluded that it would be best to make no change in original plans, except as to the crossing at foot of Walnut street, where they recommend the space between the piers be made the full width of the street between the curbs; and a minority report wholly opposing the construction of the viaduct as planned, on the ground that the spaces allowed between piers (23 feet 9 inches), and a clearance under the structure of only 12 feet, would be inadequate and a serious interference with hauling to and from the Public Landing. Naturally the railroad company was opposed to any radical change in the plans which had been formally approved by the city authorities, and the construction of which had been contracted for and under way. The outcome of the protest was the adoption of a resolution by the Board of Directors, September 15, 1905, not disapproving of the plans so far as the street passage-ways at the foot of Broadway, Sycamore and Main were concerned, which were considered ample for general traffic, but suggesting and recommending a change in the plan for the passage-way at Walnut street, where, according to the plans, it was proposed to erect a supporting pier in the middle of that thoroughfare, which it was thought should be avoided if possible.

The revision of the Grain Trade Rules which had been undertaken and practically completed by the preceding Board of Directors, were taken up by this Board early in the year. The rules as finally revised and perfected were passed by the Board of Directors at a meeting on February 7, 1905, the rules to go into force and effect March 1, 1905.

Section 8 of Rule 3 of the new Grain Rules was amended December 5, 1905, to provide that the charge for inspecting grain out of elevator shall be 25 cents per car, instead of 40 cents as heretofore.

The question of amending the By-laws of the Chamber to provide for changes in the annual elections of officers and members of the Board of Directors, was one which was considered by the Board. The general plan, which was approved by the Campaign Committees of the previous election, contemplated a complete change in the method of electing the officers of the Chamber, whereby the annual election should be for a Board composed of 15 members, who would subsequently select from their number a President, two Vice-Presidents, Treasurer and Secretary. Amendments on this line were approved by the Board of Directors, and were submitted to the Association to be voted upon at a special election held October 24, 1905. There was not a great interest shown in these proposed amendments which were regarded by many as radical, the election resulting in the defeat of the amendments by a vote of 132 "Yes" and 70 "No," the affirmative vote lacking the necessary two-thirds of all the votes cast.

One of the most radical and important changes in the rules of the Exchange, which have been undertaken or inaugurated in many years, was the complete change which has been made in the system of weighing in this market, and the establishment of the Chamber of Commerce Weighing Bureau. The question of a reliable and satisfactory weighing method in Cincinnati has for many years been one of discussion and comment, as well as criticism in grain trade circles. Previous attempts in past years to remedy conditions had met with sufficient opposition and difficulties to defeat them. Early in this year an inquiry was established by the Board of Directors through a committee composed of Messrs. O. G. Fetter, B. W. Gale, H. H. Hill and F. F. Collins, appointed to study the conditions of the weighing system, to suggest changes in the rules with a view of correcting existing evils, if any, and to establish our weighing methods upon plans of uniformity, accuracy and stability. As a result of a careful and prolonged inquiry into the subject continuing for nine months, this Special Committee submitted a report of its deliberations and conclusions at a meeting of the Board of Directors October 26, 1905. Briefly expressed, the report of the Special Committee recommends the creation of a Weighing Bureau under the auspices and management of the Chamber of Commerce, and the adoption of a plan of weighing involving radical departures from existing methods.

The committee's report with recommendations was adopted, and the Weighing Bureau was established by the Board of Directors December 11, 1905, to go into operation and effect as soon as details could be arranged and suitable rules prepared for its management. These were perfected and the new Weighing Bureau went into operation January 16, 1906. Mr. William McCallister was appointed to have charge of its management under the title of Chief Weigher.

Another new departure in the trading section of our Exchange, that of the Flour Inspection Department, heretofore in a measure independent of the Chamber, except as to rules for its guidance, was taken over to be operated under the auspices and management of the Chamber of Commerce. This new department was established and went into effect and operation January 1, 1906, with Mr. George F. Munson in charge as Flour Inspector, succeeding Mr. Monroe Izor, former Inspector who resigned. The financial plan of this new department contemplates the payment of inspection fees into the Treasury of the Chamber, and the remuneration of the Inspector by a fixed salary instead of by fees as formerly. It was thought that the revenues from this department would be sufficient to at least equal if not exceed its expenses under the new conditions. The new rules governing the flour trade and inspection department are published elsewhere in the Annual Report.

Among the resolutions adopted by the Board of Directors may be mentioned the following:

July 11, 1905.—Resolutions adopted deprecating the proposed increase of tariff imposed by foreign countries on American agricultural products, and appealing to the Department of State to use its influence to secure defeat of these measures, and the establishment of reciprocal relations with such foreign countries.

August 3, 1905.—Resolutions adopted opposing a plan proposed by the New York Produce Exchange to secure from the government a public announcement of the monthly crop reports of the Department of Agriculture at an earlier hour (12 o'clock noon), instead of 4 P. M. as formerly.

December 5, 1905.—Resolutions adopted relating to the improvement of navigable water-ways, and approving the objects of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress to be held at Washington in January, 1906.

December 5, 1905.—Resolutions adopted advocating the retention of Mr. A. H. McLeod in the Freight Department of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad Company under the new management.

December 5, 1905.—Resolutions adopted relating to Inter-State Commerce Legislation.

In the exercise of its vested authority, the Board of Directors at a meeting held January 2, 1906, conferred upon Mr. Charles B. Murray, by unanimous vote of all members of the Board, an Honorary Life Membership in the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Murray, the Superintendent and Statistician of our Exchange since November 1, 1891, is too well known to our membership and to our community to need an extended reference. Suffice it to say that Mr. Murray's long and conspicuous identity with the Chamber of Commerce as an active member and as an able and conscientious official, his zeal and efforts towards promoting the usefulness and directing the influences of our Association for the accomplishment of good, his eminence as statistical authority upon crop reports and estimates, which have international recognition, all eminently justifies the distinction of which the Board of Directors have made him the recipient.

Following is a brief review of the actions of the Association in general session, omitting the obituary reports which are elsewhere published in the Annual Report:

April 19, 1905.—Resolutions adopted favoring the idea of the creation of a corps of high class commercial attaches in the principal industrial centers, intended to assist in promoting export trade and the establishment of friendly commercial relations with foreign countries.

May 4, 1905.—Resolutions adopted favoring legislation for extension of powers of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, and requesting Senator Foraker to use his influence in securing such legislation.

May 11, 1905.—Action was taken and resolutions adopted protesting against the passage of ordinance pending in the City Council providing for an extension of the present franchise of the C., L. & N. R. R., under which valuable privileges were to be granted by the city without adequate remuneration or concessions by the railroad. A committee of twenty-five members was appointed to attend a meeting of the Council Committee, and also a Special Committee to consider the ordinance and report:

May 25, 1905.—The Special Committee on proposed franchise to C., L. & N. R. R. reported that in conference with other committees and officials, a form of amended ordinance had been prepared with a view of eliminating where possible grade crossings at certain points within the city limits, and the making of other specified betterments. The ordinance was framed also to properly safe-guard the city's interests in other respects. The report of the committee and amended ordinance was unanimously adopted.

August 7, 1905.—Resolutions adopted approving of the holding of an Inter-State Commerce Law Convention, suggesting that it be held at Cincinnati.

August 30, 1905.—Action was this day taken by the Association in favorable recognition of the consummation of a treaty of peace between the governments of Russia and Japan, which had been happily brought about by the intervention of President Roosevelt.

September 25, 1905.—The officers and promoters of the National Good Roads Association, holding convention in this city, were visitors on 'Change this day. Resolutions commendatory of the objects of the Good Roads Convention were adopted.

The Chamber of Commerce lost by death during the year ending December 31, 1905, the following members:

William N. Tallant, Gottlieb Muhlhauser, Henry Heile, G. H. Vonderahe, Ferdinand Jelke, Julius Pfleger, John N. Wooliscroft, Charles M. Brower, A. E. Armstrong, W. C. Jutte, Dennis F. Walsh, Grove J. Penney, Robert J. Smith, Val P. Collins, Samuel Born, John L. Hite, Albert Levy, John Byrne, Thomas G. Smith, Jr., Levin Belt Perin and Julius Freiberg.

Respectfully submitted,

J. B. CLANCEY, Secretary.

Report of the Superintendent

Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce,
May, 1906.

The President and Board of Directors:

Gentlemen:—As in years past, and in accordance with the provisions of the By-laws, the Superintendent has prepared a statement relating to the trade and commerce of the locality, with as much of fullness and detail as seems consistent with available information and appropriate to be presented in such connection, covering the past calendar year, with comparisons for previous years, which statement is herewith presented.

This is the Fifty-seventh Annual Report of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, and the fifteenth prepared by myself. Under the abridgment in the report ordered in 1904 the extent of statistical exhibits is not equal to some earlier years, but the present form is regarded as sufficiently full to serve all needful purposes of the work. In the matter of records of freight movement, into and from the city, there is necessarily more or less margin of incompleteness and lack of accuracy, but the work of collecting and collating the information under diligence and carefulness of effort and method represents results which in their value as comparisons are deemed worthy, and as furnishing the best attainable indication in such matters.

It may be repeated here that the Chamber of Commerce in its work of securing and making available the evidences of traffic and industry for this locality is not governed by the limitations of the city corporation lines. All that legitimately belongs to this centralization of industrial affairs is taken into the account of local operations. Attention has been given in recent years to the manufacturing interests of the locality, and while the returns are not as near completeness as might be desired they have been of sufficient extent to afford a good basis for general conclusions. A large proportion of the more important establishments have furnished information asked for. An interesting feature of such investigation has been the ability to ascertain and to state with a degree of much fullness what our factories are furnishing and can furnish for exportation to foreign countries.

Copies of this report are available to members of the Association, and will be furnished to others desirous of being possessed of the information which it presents, upon application.

Respectfully,

CHARLES B. MURRAY,
Superintendent and Executive Secretary.

THE COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY OF CINCINNATI.

The year 1905 was one of general prosperity in the various lines of industry and interest in Cincinnati, within and adjacent to the corporate limits of the city. Labor was well employed and well paid, and the manifestations of discontent or dissatisfaction with existing relations with the employing interest, and interferences with operations of employers, were within comparatively narrow limits. Demand for products of factories and of jobbing establishments was good, upon a basis affording a substantial margin of return for investment and direction of affairs in the conduct of business operations. Building improvements by erection of new structures and betterment of others, were in keeping with the advancing pace in these matters previously manifested, keeping our city well in line with the progress of the times. The receipts and distribution of commodities were decidedly enlarged. The railway transportation interests made important progress in the work of improving terminal facilities, under the increasing requirements. The river transportation interests were favored by a navigable stage of water during a period of the year rarely equaled in length, which had its rewards in this line.

In making some specific comparisons for the year it may be remarked that while the Bank Clearings for 1905, amounting to the large aggregate of $1,204,500,000, reflect an exhibit a little short of the figures for the preceding year, due to bank consolidations by which exchanges between banks were lessened, the total represents an increase of 50 per cent in a comparison with the year 1900, and the total does not imply a decline in volume of business thus represented when compared with the preceding year.

Receipts of grain for the year gained 12 per cent over the high record of the preceding year, and 35 per cent over the annual average of five years prior to 1905.

Flour receipts were somewhat reduced, while the local manufacture was enlarged.

Live stock receipts were $7\frac{3}{8}$ per cent larger than for the preceding year, and $17\frac{3}{8}$ per cent larger than for the annual average for five years.

Hog slaughtering was but moderately in excess of 1904, and 11 per cent over the annual average for five years.

Hay receipts were 19 per cent larger than for the preceding year, and 9 per cent in excess of the annual average for five years.

Grass seeds represented total receipts about the same as for the preceding year, there being some decrease in clover and timothy, and an increase in other seeds.

Butter receipts were somewhat enlarged, but the record is short of some earlier years. Cheese receipts were considerably increased. Eggs were in greater supply, showing over 11 per cent increase.

Apples were in smaller supply than in several previous years, under the deficiency in such fruit.

Potatoes were in considerably reduced supply, incident to shortage in production.

Groceries indicate a gain of about 4½ per cent in value of the year's sales, and an increase of 15 per cent over the annual average for five years.

Dry Goods transactions in the aggregate indicate a moderate gain in value for the year, and 18 per cent over the exhibit for 1900.

Shoe manufacturing appears to have increased over 5 per cent in value.

Clothing manufacture was moderately increased, and indicates a gain of 17 per cent over 1900 in value.

Pig iron sales by local concerns were notably large, but do not indicate an increase as to tonnage.

Coal receipts largely surpassed any previous record, gaining 35 per cent over the high exhibit for the preceding year, the greater gain being in river arrivals, under the long period of navigable stage of the river during the year. There was an important increase in arrivals by railroads.

Distilled spirits were reduced in production in comparison with the preceding year, and the annual average for five years.

Malt liquors were produced in excess of any previous year, gaining about 11 per cent over 1904, and 20 per cent over the annual average for five years.

Leaf tobacco sales at the warehouses were double in quantity reflected by the low record of the preceding year, but were largely short of some earlier years.

Lumber receipts were increased 12 per cent, and represented the highest record with one exception.

Soap production was increased to the extent of more than 10 per cent, this product being one of especial importance here.

Vehicles are very largely produced here, and the value of the output of local factories increased about 10 per cent.

The aggregate value of the output of large and small factories of Cincinnati and the immediate vicinity is estimated at approximately $330,000,000. Most of the important lines of such industry made good gains the past year, but there were exceptions, and in some instances a falling behind. The estimate for the preceding year was $320,000,000.

Population figures for Cincinnati and the belongings of the city adjacent to the limits of corporation lines indicate a total in excess of 550,000.

General totals in some of the prominent lines and interests represented by the business and industrial activities at Cincinnati are indicated in the following, for the year 1905: Value of shoes locally manufactured, $18,000,000; of clothing manufactured, $20,000,000; of soap manufactured, $20,000,000; of furniture and office equipments manufactured, $9,000,000; of machinery, machine tools, etc., manufactured, $17,000,000. Value of meats and kindred products manufactured, $16,000,000. Coal receipts, 160,000,000 bushels. Grain receipts, exclusive of transit movement, 20,333,000 bushels. Pig iron sales by local houses and branches, 1,743,000 tons. Beer produced, 1,665,000 barrels, or 51,600,000 gallons. Spirits distilled, 8,177,000 gallons. Soap made, 300,000,000 pounds. Railroad freights, in and out, 22,000,000 tons.

A detailed exhibit is herewith presented in comprehensive form, representing annual average prices of standard grades of the products mentioned, in this market, according to records of the Chamber of Commerce, for the past eleven years:

Receipts were 64,154 barrels, against 29,546 barrels for 1904. Shipments were 667,890 barrels, compared with 568,993 for 1904, and an annual average of 461,000 for five years prior to 1905.

The indicated local consumption of Malt Liquors for the year, for this city and vicinity, was 1,062,000 barrels, representing 32,922,000 gallons, which quantity, if applied to 575,000 as the population, would imply 57 gallons per capita, or over $22.50 per capita as the average expenditure. Retailers paid out about $6,800,000 for the quantity handled by them during the year.

COAL AND COKE.

The quantity of Coal received at Cincinnati in 1905 was largely in excess of the high record of the preceding year. This result was partly due to river conditions, the period of navigation covering an unusual proportion of the year. While much the larger gain in arrivals is shown in the exhibit of river receipts for the year, there is also a decided increase shown in rail receipts. Applying percentage in the comparison with the preceding year there is shown a gain of 66 per cent for river receipts, and 18 per cent for rail receipts—the aggregate increase being 36 per cent. It should be remarked that the river receipts of Coal in the preceding year were unusually small, the low stage of the river during the last half of the year preventing the movement.

The total receipts of Coal at Cincinnati in 1905, as indicated by records and investigations of the Chamber of Commerce, were 160,820,000 bushels. This compares with 118,184,000 bushels for 1904, and an annual average of 99,975,000 bushels for five years prior to 1905. The receipts by river were 72,935,000 bushels, compared with 43,818,000 bushels for 1904, and an annual average of 50,993,000 bushels for five years. Rail receipts were 87,885,000 bushels, compared with 74,366,000 bushels for 1904, and an annual average of 48,982,000 bushels for five years.

Coal shipments by river in 1905 were 6,433,000 bushels, and by rail 57,541,000 bushels, making a total of 63,974,000 bushels, which compares with a total of 44,676,000 bushels for 1904, and an annual average of 32,517,000 bushels for five years.

The receipts of Coal in 1905 represented 45 per cent by river, and 55 per cent by rail. For a period of five years previously, river receipts represented 51 per cent, and rail receipts 49 per cent.

Prices of Lump Coal were 8 cents per bushel for lots afloat for Pittsburg District product, throughout the year, and 7½@8 cents for Kanawha, mainly 8 cents, so that 8 cents may be regarded as the year's position. Run of Mine Pittsburg Coal was quoted at 7¼ cents, and Nut and Slack 5@5½ cents. Kanawha Nut and Slack was quoted mostly at 4½@5 cents per bushel. The price of Lump Coal delivered to consumers, for both Pittsburg (Youghiogheny) and Kanawha, was $3.50 per ton for about five months of the year, and $3.25 for seven months. The general average price for the year was $3.35 per ton, compared with $3.20 for 1904, and an annual average of $3.00 for five years. The general average price for the year for Lump Coal afloat was about 8 cents per bushel, compared with 8.50 cents for 1904, and an annual average of 8.15 cents for five years. For Nut and Slack Coal some sales of Kanawha were made at $1.75 per ton, delivered, but the prevailing price was $1.90, and for Pittsburg, $2.00; general average about $1.95 per ton.

Anthracite Coal for lots delivered to consumers, sold at $7.50 per ton until April, declined to $7.25, and advanced to $7.50 in October, averaging $7.37 for the year, compared with $7.30 for 1904, and an annual average of $7.60 for five years.

The consumption of Coal, as near as can be estimated upon statements of dealers, has been pretty evenly divided between industrial and household requirements, the past year seeming to justify about 55 per cent as the proportion for industrial uses, and 45 per cent for household purposes.

For the year 1905 the local gas works consumed Coal to the extent of 197,577 tons of 2,000 pounds, or 5,497,000 bushels. There were sent out from the works 2,169,000,000 cubic feet of gas, and the product of electric current represented 29,422,000 kilowatts. The increase in output of gas was over 20 per cent in comparison with the preceding year, while the increase in electric current was less than 3 per cent. No report available for 1905.

The yearly range and average prices of Pittsburg Coal, afloat and delivered, per bushel, based on weekly records, compare for a series of years as shown in the following compilation:

Coal from the Kanawha, Virginia and West Virginia regions, sells at the same, or about the same, prices as are obtained for the product from the Pittsburg district. Sales afloat are on the bushel basis, 72 pounds; sales delivered are on the ton basis, 2,000 pounds, and represent screened or lump grade.

The receipts of Coke for the year were 4,580,000 bushels, and the quantity locally manufactured was 7,219,000 bushels, making a total of 11,799,000 bushels, compared with 10,934,000 bushels the preceding year. For city manufacture the average price for the year was 10½ cents per bushel; of gas-house, 9 cents; of Connellsville, $6.50 per ton.

PIG IRON.

While the local consumption of Pig Iron is not large in comparison with some other manufacturing cities, the sales of this product by the concerns here are greater in amount than in any other market in the country, the transactions largely covering sales for direct movement from originating to delivery points.

Local receipts of Pig Iron in 1905 were 588,297 tons, compared with 592,422 tons for 1904, and an annual average of 600,000 for five years prior to 1905. Shipments in 1905 were 383,975 tons, compared with 446,733 tons for 1904, and an annual average of 507,000 for five years.

Sales of Pig Iron by local houses in 1905 for direct shipment to delivery points were 1,155,126 tons, compared with 1,208,849 tons for 1904, and an annual average of 1,042,000 for five years.

The value of the total receipts of Pig Iron in 1905, and sales by local dealers for direct shipment, represents approximately $29,600,000, compared with $26,100,000 for 1904, and an annual average of $28,900,000 for five years.

Prices of Pig Iron during the first four months of the year were maintained at the advanced position reached near the close of the preceding year. Subsequently a declining tendency developed, until $13.75@14.75 represented the position of Southern Coke No. 2 Foundry in July, against $16.25@16.75 for the early part of the year. From August to the close of the year there was more or less shaping of prices to higher figures, with $16.75@17.25 finally reached. The average for the year for this grade was $15.90 per ton, compared with $13.10 for 1904, and an annual average of $16.40 for five years.

For Lake Ore Coke No. 2 Foundry Iron the range of prices early in the year was $17.15@17.65, declining later to $15.15@15.40 in August, and advancing near the close of the year to $18.65@19.15, making an average of $17.00, compared with $14.15 for 1904, and an annual average of $17.70 for five years.

For Hanging Rock Charcoal No. 1 Iron the quotation was $23.65@26.65 until October, advancing in November to $26.65@27.15, which represented the position at the close of the year. The average for 1905 was $25.50 per ton, compared with $22.70 for 1904, and an annual average of $25.70 for five years.

The average price of Anthracite Foundry Pig Iron at Philadelphia in 1905 was $17.88 per ton, compared with $15.57 for 1904, and an annual average of $18.30 for five years.

The production of Pig Iron in the United States in 1905 largely exceeded any previous record, representing a total of 22,992,380 tons of 2,240 pounds, compared with 16,497,033 tons for 1904, and an annual average of 16,400,000 tons for five years.

Statistical data appear in tables elsewhere in this report.

MANUFACTURED IRON AND STEEL.

Receipts of Manufactured Iron and Steel in 1905 were considerably enlarged in comparison with 1904, showing a total of 445,147 tons, against 299,044 for the preceding year, and an annual average of 338,000 for five years prior to 1905.

The following compilation shows annual average prices of Bessemer Pig Iron, at Pittsburg; best Rolled Bar Iron, at Pittsburg; Steel Billets, at Pittsburg; Steel Rails, at mills in Pennsylvania; Wire Nails, at Chicago (f. o. b.), carload lots:

COTTON.

Receipts of Cotton at Cincinnati in 1905, as reported, were 176,076 bales, compared with 148,320 for 1904, and an annual average of 173,000 bales for five years prior to 1905. Shipments were 149,299 bales, compared with 141,755 for 1904, and an annual average of 163,500 bales for five years. These figures are not to be accepted as specifically accurate, for there are features incident to securing reports locally of the cotton movement which admit of something of error in the records. Cincinnati is not a Cotton market, the arrivals here largely representing through movement. The local consumption of Cotton is 15,000 to 18,000 bales annually. Market prices here are governed by New York quotations.

At New York, Middling Upland Cotton for spot delivery in 1905 was as low as 7 cents per pound in January, and as high as 12.60 cents per pound in December. For the year the general average was about 9.50 cents per pound, compared with 12.10 for 1904, 10.25 for 1903, and 8.75 for 1902.

The Cotton crop of the United States for the year ending September 1, 1905 (grown in 1904), as estimated by the New York Financial Chronicle, was 13,556,841 bales, compared with 10,123,686 for the preceding year, and 10,758,326 for 1902–03. The annual average for five years prior to 1904–05 was 10,290,000 bales. The average gross weight of bales for 1904–05 was 516.10 pounds, compared with 507.86 for the preceding year, and 508.55 for 1902–03. The area in Cotton, as estimated by the Financial Chronicle, has been as follows: 1904–05, 32,363,000 acres; 1903–04, 28,808,000 acres; 1902–03, 27,300,000 acres; 1901–02, 27,874,000 acres; 1900–01, 26,534,000 acres.

Statistical data appear in tables elsewhere in this report.

LUMBER.

The records for 1905 indicate receipts of 68,804 cars of Lumber, compared with 61,107 for 1904, 64,549 for 1903, and 96,548 for 1902, the latter being the high record in this line. For five years prior to 1905 the annual average was 70,000. Shipments were 54,876 cars, against 47,308 for 1904, and an annual average of 49,700 for five years. Prices at the close of the year for Pine product ranged about the same as a year previously, while Hardwood Lumber was higher on some classes. It is difficult to obtain very definite quotations.

SOAP.

The reported shipments of Soap are liable to be more or less incomplete, and the comparatively small gain in the record for 1905 in comparison with the preceding year may be regarded as not fully reflecting the relative movement. The records indicate shipments of 3,067,590 boxes, compared with 3,038.726 for 1904, and an annual average of 2,532,000 for five years prior to 1905. The manufacture of Soap is one of the most prominent industries of our city, and it is to be regretted that precise figures can not be presented of the output of our factories. Calculations upon such basis as has been available lead to the conclusion that the total manufacture in 1905 was about 300,000,000 pounds, compared with 275,000,000 for 1904, 250,000,000 for 1903, 235,000,000 for 1902, and 225,000,000 for 1901. The value of Soap made at Cincinnati in 1905 was about $20,000,000.

LEAF AND MANUFACTURED TOBACCO.

There was considerable increase in receipts of Leaf Tobacco in 1905 in comparison with the preceding year, but the quantity was not equal to some earlier years. Total receipts 77,537 hogsheads, compared with 60,719 for 1904, and an annual average of 71,000 for five years prior to 1905. The receipts of cases and bales were 64,031, compared with 42,755 for 1904, and an annual average of 57,000 for five years. Shipments for the year were 58,752 hogsheads, and 28,522 cases and bales.

At the auction warehouses the receipts of the year were 45,419 hogsheads, offerings 51,617, rejections 11,402, sales 40,215, cash amount of sales $4,458,046, stocks remaining at end of the year 9,080 hogsheads.

The sales at the auction warehouses in 1905 represented an average of $9.25 per 100 pounds, compared with $10.05 for 1904, and an annual average of $8.60 for five years prior to 1905. The comparisons of general average prices realized do not necessarily reflect relative prices of equal grades, for the proportionate sales of the lower and higher grades is variable from year to year.

The value of the total arrivals of Leaf Tobacco in 1905 was approximately $8,600,000, compared with $8,800,000 for 1904, and $9,100,000 for 1903.

The stocks of Leaf Tobacco at Cincinnati at the close of 1904 were of moderate proportions, 9,080 hogsheads, compared with 6,238 a year previously, and an annual average of 11,490 for ten years prior to 1905.

The local manufacture of Chewing and Smoking Tobacco was 11,462,000 pounds, compared with 10,250,000 for 1904, and an annual average of 9,812,000 for five years prior to 1905. The local manufacture of Cigars was 181,224,000, compared with 182,371,000 for 1904, and an average of 258,518,000 for five years prior to 1905.

Receipts of Manufactured Tobacco in 1905 were considerably larger than in the preceding year, but short of some earlier years, amounting to 160,187 packages, compared with 107,219 for 1904, and an annual average of 195,000 for five years prior to 1905. Shipments were 248,736 packages, compared with 152,535 for 1904, and an annual average of 235,000 for five years prior to 1905.

The Tobacco crop of 1905 is estimated by the Department of Agriculture as 633,033,000 pounds, from 776,100 acres, against 660,460,000 pounds, from 806,400 acres in 1904, the average price being estimated at 8.45 cents per pound for 1905, against 8.10 cents for 1904.

Statistical data appear in tables elsewhere in this report.

VEHICLE MANUFACTURING.

Vehicle manufacturing operations in Cincinnati in 1905 continued to reflect the activity which had been developed in the two years previously. The Chamber of Commerce effort to secure returns from the manufacturers has not resulted in obtaining complete statements, but the reports received make it appear that the value of the total output for the year was about 10 per cent. greater than for 1904—some of the larger concerns reporting much higher percentages of increase. On the basis of about 10 per cent. the total value would be approximately $10,500,000, compared with $9,500,000 for 1904, and an annual average of about $9,000,000 for five years prior to 1905.

In the production of the lighter classes of Vehicles Cincinnati has become especially distinguished. They are shipped to all portions of the country, and to some extent exported to foreign countries. It is claimed for this city that its output of Vehicles exceeds that of any other place in the country. The economies and advantages incident to use of the most improved machinery in manufacture, the high quality of materials used, and the skill and taste displayed among manufacturers of such goods here, have combined to give fame to this market for Vehicles locally manufactured. The central position of Cincinnati in its relation to transportation communication with all sections of the country, and advantages commanded by our manufacturers for securing material economically and of high degree of excellence, are important elements in favor of this market in this line of industry.

The manufacture of Automobiles has made considerable headway in this city, and gives promise of assuming considerable importance.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

The notably high position of Cincinnati in the manufacture and distribution of Shoes has been fully maintained, although the increase in operations the past year was not striking. The value of the output of local factories in 1905 is estimated at about $18,000,000, or over 5 per cent gain in comparison with the preceding year. About nine-tenths of the local manufacture represents Women's Shoes. The aggregate of sales by producers and dealers for the past year, as indicated by returns to the Chamber of Commerce, was about $26,000,000, compared with $25,000,000 for 1904, and an annual average of $22,650,000 for five years prior to 1905.

Shoes of Cincinnati manufacture find market largely in the South, and are popular for their excellence of quality.

The following compilation shows approximately the value of yearly sales of Boots and Shoes by manufacturers and dealers at Cincinnati, according to special returns to the Chamber of Commerce:

CLOTHING.

The investigations concerning the local Clothing trade in 1905 do not suggest a large increase, this business being conspicuous among the important lines of industry here. The product of local establishments is estimated as about $17,000,000 for men's wear, and $3,000,000 for women's wear. Sales of local dealers for the year, as indicated by returns to the Chamber of Commerce, reached a total of about $30,000,000, compared with $29,500,000 for 1904, and an annual average of $27,000,000 for five years prior to 1905. These sales include considerable Clothing received from other sources.

DRY GOODS.

The distribution of Dry Goods by local houses in 1905 as indicated by returns to the Chamber of Commerce, was but little larger in volume in 1905 than the record for the preceding year, the total appearing to represent about $44,000,000, compared with $43,500,000 for 1904, and an annual average of $40,700,000 for five years prior to 1905. In the returns from the houses in this line it is not practicable to determine as to what extent the reported sales may in fact include other goods, which may represent a considerable amount, but for general comparison the results reached may be accepted as fair approximation.

The following indicates approximately the value of yearly sales of Dry Goods by the trade at Cincinnati, according to special returns to the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, for the years stated:

The wholesale Dry Goods merchants of Cincinnati maintain full and superior assortments of goods, which are offered at relatively low prices. This policy has enabled our merchants to maintain a strong position in the competition for meeting the wants of dealers in towns less populous in the Ohio Valley and contiguous territory.

FURNITURE, OFFICE FIXTURES, ETC.

The local business in Furniture, Office Fixtures, and kindred equipments, during the past year, so far as can be judged from returns received by the Chamber of Commerce, was about 5 per cent in excess of the preceding year.

The local production of Furniture embraces all classes of furnishings for residences, offices, banks, hotels, restaurants, saloons, etc., and this market has maintained a high reputation for the tasteful designs and quality of work turned out.

In the manufacture of Office Fixtures this city is undoubtedly first in importance in this country. The most extensive plant of this kind is here—partly within corporation limits, partly just outside.

The local manufacturing concerns, as well as the department stores, handle considerable of Furniture made elsewhere, notably Chairs, and also Office Fixtures. Local factories turn out large quantities of burial cases, picture frames, mouldings, and minor articles in great variety, in which wood is largely used. Liberal quantities of goods in these lines are exported to foreign countries, notably desks, filing cabinets, bookcases, etc., for equipment of offices. The value of the output of Furniture and Office Fixtures in 1905 is estimated as approximately $9,000,000, compared with $8,500,000 for 1904, $8,500,000 for 1903, $8,000,000 for 1902, and $7,500,000 for 1901.

MANUFACTURING INTERESTS AND COMPARISONS.

Statistics of Manufacturing and other industries for Cincinnati would not appropriately reflect the status of this locality if they were to be confined to the corporation limits of the city. Therefore it is to be understood that such exhibits prepared by the Chamber of Commerce embrace matters of such nature which properly belong to this commercial center, regardless of the fixed lines of the corporation. Many of the very large Manufacturing establishments of the locality are situated beyond the city limits, and on the Kentucky side of the Ohio River. This fact makes it impossible for the Census Office exhibits to appropriately show the extent of the industrial activities here. This remark is likewise applicable to population returns.

Cincinnati is favored with an exceptional combination of conditions promotive of growth of Manufacturing industries, and advantageous returns for investment of capital and application of business enterprise. The facilities here for securing raw material at low cost, applicable to a great variety of industries—such as iron, wood, leather, fuel, etc.—have been important elements in the situation. The region is one especially favorable in climatic conditions, promotive of health and comfort of the people. The locality commands rare opportunities for securing food supplies, in great variety, of best quality, and at low cost to consumers. The abundance of capital and liberal banking facilities are important factors in such enterprise. Transportation facilities, by rail and water, provide for distribution of products from this central position more favorably as to cost and time than are available at any other large city in the country. Industrial classes are provided with good homes, readily accessible, and at low rates. Labor controversies have rarely interfered with industrial operations. Educational facilities here are of the highest order, including technical branches. Opportunities for recreation and entertainment are of the best class. Under such conditions Cincinnati has become a city distinctly prominent in Manufacturing industries, covering lines in great variety and extent, many of which represent the highest positions in such operations in this country.

As a result of careful investigations and calculations by the Chamber of Commerce the conclusion was reached that $285,000,000 was a reasonable valuation to place upon the output of local Manufacturing establishments for the year 1900, $300,000,000 for 1901, and $315,000,000 for 1902. Returns and estimates for 1903 indicated that many large concerns increased their output in value, and various others did not increase, and some reported a decrease. In most instances the failure to expand in such comparisons, and the shortcomings, were due to lower prices, rather than lessened volume of products. For 1903 the conclusion was reached that the total was approximately the same as for the preceding year, $315,000,000. The investigations for 1904 resulted in evidence of but little change in the aggregate, compared with 1903, while more or less important changes occurred in specific lines. For instance, in the Vehicle manufacturing industry, in Soap, in Clothing, etc., there were gains in value of the output, while in Machines, Machine Tools, and other lines related to metal interests, there were declines of more or less degree. Returns and estimates which represented $147,000,000 for 1903, indicated $150,000,000 for 1904. On this evidence the aggregate value of the output of Manufacturing establishments in Cincinnati and its immediate vicinity was placed at $320,000,000 for 1904. The returns received for 1905 reflect much variableness, and as in previous years are largely short of completeness as to the aggregate for all the manufacturing output. The conclusion is reached that the value of products of all local factories in 1905 was 3 to 5 per cent greater than for the preceding year, and that $330,000,000 fairly represents the comparison with the figures stated for previous years.

Local industries of special prominence include Woodworking Machinery, Machine Tools, Machinery and Engines of every kind, Vehicles, Soap, Metal Products of every description, Clothing, Shoes, Leather, Harness and Saddlery, Furniture, Bank, Bar and Office Furnishings, Distilling and Brewing, Printing, Printing Ink, Playing Cards, Chemicals, Pianos, Lumber, Pork and Beef Products, Fire-proof Safes, Tight Cooperage, etc.

The exportation of products of the factories of Cincinnati has been large in recent years, covering a wide range of articles, notably Machinery of all kinds, Machine Tools, Soap, Oils, Pianos, Decorative Pottery, Whiskies, Pharmaceutical Products, Stoves, Furniture, Office Furnishings, etc.

BANK CLEARINGS.

By the consolidation which reduced the number of local National Banks about a year ago, from thirteen to ten, there was a reduced basis for bank exchanges for an equal amount of business represented by bank patronage. This condition had its influence in the usual comparisons promulgated weekly and monthly, and in the yearly total, which for 1905 fell a little short of the figures for the preceding year, the aggregate being $1,204,529,000, compared with $1,222,815,000 for 1904, and an annual average of $1,045,300,000 for five years prior to 1905. The exhibit for 1905 indicates an increase of 50 per cent over the figures for 1900.

INTERNAL REVENUE COLLECTIONS.

Collections in 1905 by the local Internal Revenue office represented a total of $12,777,241.75, compared with $12,039,015 for 1904, and an annual average of $12,072,000 for five years prior to 1905. The collections for the past year represented the following: Distilled Spirits, $9,916,395.78; ($46.50 for export stamps); Beer, $1,419,099.50; Tobacco Products, $1,024,981.21; from Miscellaneous Sources, $259,988.70; Special Taxes (licenses, etc.), $156,730.26.

BANKS AND BANKING CAPITAL.

There are ten National Banks in Cincinnati, having a combined capital of $11,800,000. There are seventeen private Banks and Savings Banks, representing capital of $3,265,000. Also, in Covington, four National Banks, with capital of $1,150,000; in Newport, two National Banks, with capital of $200,000, and a Savings Bank, with capital of $50,000. Total for Banks, $16,465,000. Surplus and undivided profits represent a total about equal to the entire capital.

The following statement shows the Banking Capital of Cincinnati, and of the National Banks of Covington and Newport, for 1906:

THE NATIONAL BOARD OF TRADE.

The Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce participated in the organization of the National Board of Trade, at a meeting in Philadelphia, in June, 1868, and has maintained membership in it from the beginning. The thirty-fifth annual meeting was held at Washington on January 16, 17 and 18, 1906, when the Chamber of Commerce was represented by JAMES T. MCHUGH, H. LEE EARLY, CHARLES B. MURRAY, ROBERT W. WISE and J. F. ELLISON.

The membership under the original plan represented constituent bodies organized for general commercial and not for special or private purposes, each association being represented by delegates allotted with relation to the number of members in such associations. At the meeting in January, 1905, it was provided that individuals may become associate members, and at the 1906 meeting there was reported sixty-five such memberships. In 1868 there were thirty-two organizations represented in the original membership. For 1906 there were sixty-two constituent bodies represented by the membership.

The propositions before the meeting in January, 1906, included the following subjects from the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce: Interstate Commerce Law; Inland Navigation Improvements; Consular Service; Trade Relations with Canada; International Arbitration; Free Alcohol for Industrial Uses; Parcels Post; International Standards; Government Inspection of Grain. As chairman of the standing committee on crop reports Mr. MURRAY submitted a comprehensive report upon this important matter, and participated in the committee work of the Inquiry and Advisory Committee on Agricultural Statistics.

WEATHER BUREAU SERVICE.

The Chamber of Commerce membership has continued to be served with daily postings on the weather map of meteorological conditions, under charge of Mr. S. S. BASSLER, Local Forecaster, who has been attentive to the calls upon his office for information. Additional to the reports of atmospheric conditions at points of observation throughout the country, there have been received, as heretofore, a large number of daily telegraphic reports of stages of navigable rivers tributary to this city, which have been posted on 'Change, with comparisons. Such information is of particular interest to persons concerned in river traffic and transportation, the coal trade, local merchants, etc., notably in times of high-water and low-water conditions, ice movement, etc.

A full Weather Summary for the year, from Mr. BASSLER'S office, prepared especially for this report, will be found on pages following the general tabular exhibits.

POPULATION DATA.

Census reports show the following for Cincinnati: For 1810, 2,540; 1820, 9,642; 1830, 24,831; 1840, 46,338; 1850, 115,435; 1860, 161,044; 1870, 216,239; 1880, 255,139; 1890, 296,908; 1900, 325,902.

These figures represent returns within corporation limits, beyond and outside of which there is a large number which represent a part of the centralization of population, consistently belonging to Cincinnati. A part of this additional population is on the opposite side of the Ohio River, which can not be covered by the corporation limits of Cincinnati because of the state line separation. It is within reason to say that Cincinnati and its belongings represents a population of over 550,000.

RAINFALL AT CINCINNATI.

The total rainfall at Cincinnati as recorded by the United States Weather Bureau was 38.69 inches, compared with 29.54 inches for 1904, and an annual average of 32.86 inches for ten years prior to 1905. The high monthly record was for May, 9.52 inches; the low record was for July, 1.04 inches.

For the period of seventy years, 1835 to 1904 inclusive, the annual average is 41.36 inches. Elsewhere in this report is a table of monthly and yearly averages for sixty-two years, 1844 to 1905, inclusive, with averages for each month of the year for the period from 1835 to 1850, to 1860, to 1870, to 1880, to 1890, to 1900, and to 1905. ## RAILROAD TRANSPORTATION INTERESTS.

The railroad systems and lines entering Cincinnati are the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern, the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific, the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis (New York Central Lines), the Louisville & Nashville, the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis (Pennsylvania Lines), the Norfolk & Western, the Erie, the Cincinnati, Lebanon & Northern.

The freight business at Cincinnati, representing commodity movements in and out of the city, were considerably increased in 1905, but precise statements of the tonnage can not be offered, as a portion of the lines are unable to readily furnish such details. Last year the estimate offered for 1904 was 20,000,000 tons for the local railroad traffic, and there is reason for regarding this as probably an understatement. For 1905 the total is estimated as 23,000,000 to 25,000,000 tons.

During 1905 there was much done by the railway lines for betterment of terminal conditions here, and for enlargement of facilities for movement and handling of goods. The Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific (Cincinnati Southern) has made important progress in the work of providing enlarged terminal accommodations. This line also has pushed forward the double-tracking of a portion of the distance where needed to facilitate train movements. The Louisville & Nashville Railroad has made considerable progress in work upon its enlarged terminal arrangements and connections. This railroad has completed its new line from Knoxville to Atlanta, and now has two routes from Cincinnati to the South—one by way of the Kentucky Division through Covington, Winchester and Knoxville to Atlanta; one through Newport, Louisville, Nashville, Mobile and New Orleans to the Southwest. The Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern had completed its freight handling terminals prior to 1905, and enjoys excellent facilities in these particulars. The Pennsylvania system (the P., C., C. & St. L., the C., L. & N., etc.) secured extended space in the vicinity of Front and Broadway, made a high grade yard approach to the C., L. & N. from Hunt Street, with other betterments. This line secured control of the L. & N. bridge over the Ohio River here.

When the projects now in hand and under way at Cincinnati for accommodating the requirements of freight and passenger business reach completion, this city will command such facilities as will enable it to serve the public with a full degree of satisfaction, comparing favorably with the best elsewhere.

RIVER TRANSPORTATION INTERESTS.

The period of navigable stage of the Ohio River was unusually prolonged in 1905, by which ordinary craft were in service a large part of the year. The record of the river gauge at Cincinnati for 6 o'clock A. M. daily, was not as low as 6 feet for any day in the year, the lowest point being 6.5 feet in October. For 1904 there were 130 days showing less than 6 feet; previously, 49 for 1903; 68 for 1902; 39 for 1901; 74 for 1900; 76 for 1899; 13 for 1898; 65 for 1897; 6 for 1896; 134 for 1895, etc. For the period of ten years prior to 1905 there were 654 days with the river stage record below 6 feet—an annual average of 65.4 days, or about 18 per cent of the entire period. This means a serious interruption to facilities for the movement of ordinary freights and coal, to the inconvenience of industrial interests in this region.

The lowest stage of water in the Ohio River at Cincinnati in 1905 was 6.5 feet, October 11; the highest stage, 48.2 feet, May 16; average for the year, 18.2 feet. Yearly averages previously indicate 14.5 feet for 1904; 17.9 for 1903; 16.8 for 1902; 17.2 for 1901; 13.8 for 1900, etc. For five years the annual average is 16 feet.

With reference to the Ohio River stages it may be observed that a 6-foot stage at Cincinnati does not imply an equal stage either upstream or downstream. As a rule a 6-foot stage at Cincinnati would imply less than 4 feet for navigation between this city and the Kanawha River, and less than 3 feet for navigation to Pittsburg. It would imply 6 feet from Cincinnati to Louisville, under influence of the Falls at the latter point, but less than 5 feet between Louisville and Cairo. A navigable stage of water equal to 6 feet between Cincinnati and Pittsburg under existing conditions does not average more than eight of the twelve months of the year. The feature of uncertainty of periods of such interruptions to navigation seriously interferes with arrangements being made for transportation of commodities and raw material.

There were 29 steamers engaged in freight and passenger traffic on the Ohio River in 1905 in service between Cincinnati and other ports, representing a total of 13,513 tons, compared with 30 steamers, total of 14,048 tons for 1904. Two steamers destroyed in 1905, the "Hudson," burned at Cincinnati February 6, and the "Big Kanawha," wrecked by the ice gorge near Maysville, when the ice moved on February 24.

The rainfall at Cincinnati in 1905 was 38.69 inches, compared with 29.54 inches in 1904, and an annual average of 32.86 inches for five years prior to 1905. For the preceding five years the annual average was 35.48 inches.

The extent of freight tonnage to and from Cincinnati by river representing commodity transportation, can not be reliably stated. The business in 1905 was satisfactory to the shipping interests in the extent of offerings of freight and passengers, and in returns from transportation.

A feature of the year was the unusual extent of losses of property incident to the breaking up and movement of ice on the river. This led to conferences among parties interested, and to official action by the Chamber of Commerce, in the appointment by the President of a committee of ten members to inquire into the extent of losses suffered, and to make suggestions or recommendations as to measures for securing protection from such losses in the future. The result of the inquiry was that local parties were shown to have been sufferers to the extent of about $600,000 from the causes here mentioned. The committee urged that an appeal be made to Congress to provide for a survey, with reference to a proposition to construct ice piers at suitable points, as a means for such protection. The committee conferred with Congressmen Longworth and Goebel (of Cincinnati), and on February 22, 1906, Mr. Goebel introduced into the House of Representatives a bill which provided that the Secretary of War be authorized and directed to cause to be made a survey and examination of the Ohio River at or near Cincinnati, for the purpose of establishing a suitable ice harbor. This was referred to the Committee on Rivers and Harbors, and ordered to be printed A similar bill was introduced into the Senate by Mr. Elkins, of West Virginia Members of the Chamber of Commerce Committee visited Washington with a view of securing favorable consideration of the bill by the Committee on Rivers and Harbors, but the Committee did not report the bill to the House. Our committee in its report expressed a belief that at the next session of Congress favorable action may be secured, by which a survey and estimate of cost of ice piers will be provided for.

The subject of improvement of the Ohio River received more attention by the 58th Congress than usual, and action was taken by which the locks and dams incident to the slack water navigation plan previously provided for upon a 6-foot basis were to be constructed upon a 9-foot gauge. Provisions were introduced in the Rivers and Harbors bill by which the Secretary of War was directed to appoint a Board of Engineers from the United States Army Corps to be known as the Ohio River Board, the duties of which were to complete the survey of the Ohio River from the Big Miami to Cairo, not previously provided for, to report upon the feasibility and advisability of providing for a system of locks and dams for this portion of the river, and upon the comparative desirability of provisions for either a 6-foot or a 9-foot stage. Also, to secure statistics of the present freight tonnage, represented by local and through traffic, and such other information as would serve in preparation of a statement of tonnage to be expected to be moved under the plan for securing a continuous navigable stage under permanent improvements. In this connection it may be mentioned that the measures which have secured the steps herein referred to for betterment of the navigation of the Ohio River, and development of its resources by introduction of the lock and dam system, have resulted from the persistent efforts of those who have been associated in the organization known as the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, which originated under actions taken by the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, and which, with a membership all along the Ohio Valley region, has kept alive the needs of the vast interests concerned in this great waterway, and its possibilities for greater benefits to industrial affairs, locally and otherwise.

In a statement prepared by the Superintendent of the Chamber for the Chairman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee in 1903, there was a compilation furnishing an interesting and instructive illustration of the relative freight charges by railroad and by river. The calculation recognized rates from Cincinnati to Parkersburg by river, 283 miles, and to Cleveland, Ohio, by rail, 263 miles, as one comparison; to Wheeling by river, 377 miles, and to Erie, Pa., by rail, 350 miles, as a second comparison; to Pittsburg by river, 487 miles, and to Buffalo, N. Y., by rail, 438 miles, as a third comparison. The river mileage here represented is 1,147 miles; the aggregate of single rates for each class of freight is 298¾ cents. The rail mileage is 1,051 miles, and the aggregate of single rates for each class is 436½ cents. In each comparison the river distance is somewhat in excess of the rail distance; the total of the rail distance is 8.4 per cent less than the river distance, while the aggregate of the rail rates is 46 per cent in excess of the river rates.

In the statement here referred to it was mentioned that freight rates on the Ohio River average about two-thirds of rail rates for like distances, and would be further lowered under an improvement of the waterway by which continuous business could be maintained, and the cost of transportation reduced incident to the lessening of risks and losses attending movements of crafts on high stages of water. Other advantages which would result from continuous navigation include stability of conditions admitting of time contracts and regular transportation arrangements with railway lines, the movement of coal without detention from the mining districts and incidental risks, the building up of industries along this waterway under the facilities for deliveries of fuel and material advantageously and regularly, the promotion of industry and commerce reaching directly to very many localities not situated on the waterway, but coming within the influence of conditions attending this valley, and in various other ways.

MARINE WORKS—OHIO RIVER AND TRIBUTARIES.

MAJOR J. G. WARREN, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., has furnished the following statement of operations during 1905 on work connected with the improvement of the Ohio River under Government appropriations.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

The work under the charge of this office during the year 1905, has been the operation, care, and extension of slack-water system of navigation on the three canalized rivers, Kentucky, Big Sandy and Muskingum, all tributaries of the Ohio River.

The following is a resume of operations during the calendar year, 1905:

Kentucky River.—At the beginning of the year there were 10 locks and dams in operation; No. 10 having been completed late in 1904, thus increasing the length of navigable river 23½ miles, giving a total of 200 miles from the mouth of the river. In March a freshet cut behind Locks 9 and 10, thus putting both locks out of service and reducing the navigable river to 157 miles. At as early a date as practicable work was commenced at No. 9 upon a dam and protection works with a view to restoring the pool level; but, owing to the very wet season, it has not been completed. It is expected that the work at Nos. 9 and 10, both will be completed during 1906, and the locks again put in operation. It is also expected that Dam No. 11 will be completed and opened to navigation during the year. The dams on this river are all of the fixed type, and they and the newer locks are of concrete. The available depth for navigation is 6 feet. The completed locks have been operated throughout the year.

Big Sandy River.—There are three locks, with movable dams, in operation on this river; Nos. 1 and 2 having been recently completed. The lifts are the highest of any movable dams in the world, being as follows: No. 1, 22.5 feet at extreme low-water in Ohio River; No. 2, 12.5 feet; No. 3, 12.2 feet. At Louisa the Levisa and Tug Forks meet to form the Big Sandy, which is only 26 miles long. Levisa Fork is navigable for 100 miles, and Tug 60 miles during the wet season. A lock was completed on Tug this year, ready for the gates, and on Levisa one was well advanced to completion. The dams for these locks have not yet been contracted, because no funds have been appropriated. The available depth of slack-water is 6 feet. The completion of the works now under way will give slack-water to points 37 miles from the Ohio on Tug, and 42 miles on Levisa. The dams on this river are of the needle type, differing from those on the Ohio and Kanawha, which are composed of wickets. The first one built (at Louisa), has now been in operation 9 years, and the success of this type of dam has been fully demonstrated.

Muskingum River.—The 10 locks and dams have been in use throughout the year 1905. The minimum navigable depth is 6 feet, except Nos. 1 and 4, where it is 3 feet and 5 feet, respectively. The length of slack-water is 84 miles, and during wet weather this is extended 7 miles farther for light-draft boats.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

The following is a summary of operations for the improvement of the Ohio River during the calendar year 1905:

The U. S. dredges Ohio and Oswego left their winter quarters at Marietta, Ohio, on June 7th, to resume operations at various points between that place and Wheeling, W. Va., and up to the end of July were employed in removing the obstructive portions of bars at Blair Run, Opossum Creek, Reas Run and Newberry Island. Owing to the rapid fall of river which then occurred, the boats were started down stream in order to reach important work near Louisville, but as the low stage was immediately followed by a rise, they were stopped at New Richmond, Ohio, and removed the bar at the mouth of Little Indian Creek. The plant was subsequently taken to Five Mile bar, where dredging was carried on until September 13th, when the river had fallen to a suitable stage for the work contemplated below, and the fleet proceeded to Grassy Flats, 18 miles above Louisville, where the Oswego was set to work, the dredge Ohio being placed in the dry dock of the Louisville and Portland Canal for removing of the bottom plating and lengthening of hull.

The widening of channel at Grassy Flats was continued by the Oswego until the middle of October, when she was sent below to open navigation through the hard bars at Chenault's Reach and Fulton, being assisted in the latter by a dredge borrowed from the Louisville district for temporary service.

The work was continued until the end of November, when high water and cold weather made it necessary to suspend for the season.

The total quantity of material excavated during the season was 142,131 cubic yards. All the dredging was carried to a depth of five feet below low water, and although work was much delayed by the frequent periods of high water, navigation was greatly benefited by the increased width of channel obtained at the various localities.

To meet the urgent demands for dredging throughout the entire length of the Ohio River, and especially on the section below Louisville, additional dredging plant has been authorized for which plans are under consideration.

The protection afforded by the ice piers at Gallipolis in former seasons having led to a general desire of steamboat interests for increasing its efficiency, a contract was made with F. J. and F. C. Duvall, of that place, for a concrete pier placed inside the two existing piers. High water, however, prevented its completion. A contract was also made with W. L. Glazier, of Newport, Ky., for building up the three sections of the concrete ice piers at Maysville, Ky., partially constructed in 1903, to the required height. All work under this contract was completed in September.

Work on the construction or repair of dams and dikes consisted of a contract entered into with Oscar F. Barrett, of Cincinnati, for the extension and repair of dikes at Mound City, Ill., and on which about 8,000 cubic yards of stone was put in place up to the end of November, when high water made it necessary to postpone completion until next season; and repairs made to the dike at Rising Sun, Ind., by hired labor during September and October, likewise interrupted by high water, deferring completion until next year. Careful examinations were made to ascertain the extent of damage from ice, etc., sustained by the dams at Brown's Island and Marietta Island, in order to provide for the required repairs next year.

The U. S. snagboat E. A. Woodruff was employed in the removal of obstructions from the latter part of April, when she began operations in Cincinnati harbor, until early in December, when severe weather made it necessary to go into winter quarters.

The work of the snagboat for this period comprised two trips over the river between Cincinnati and Pittsburg; one trip between Cincinnati and Point Pleasant; one trip between Cincinnati and Marietta; one trip between Cincinnati and Ashland; one trip between Cincinnati and Manchester; one trip between Marietta and Cluster's Island (51 miles below Pittsburg); one trip between Cincinnati and Louisville; and two trips between Cincinnati and the mouth of the river.

On most of the above journeys obstructions were removed wherever found, both in going and returning. The following obstructions were removed: 876 snags, 86 wrecks of coal barges, coal boats, etc.; 2,141 cubic feet of rocks, and 5,097 cords of drift.

In addition to the snagboat work, 6 wrecks of barges, etc., in the vicinity of Pittsburg, were removed by crews specially organized as occasion required.

Work on Dam 37 at Fernbank, below Cincinnati, under contract with the Sheridan–Kirk Contract Co., has been carried on steadily, except the interference with river work by high stages of river, in clearing the land at the site, assembling and erecting plant, excavating foundations for lock and buildings, placing coffer-dam, and similar operations preparatory to the permanent construction of the lock and dam. For the latter a large quantity of iron work was delivered, the timber coffer-dam for the lock and upper lock gate recess was completed, and considerable advance made in driving piles for foundation of the upper guide wall and concrete masonry of lock and buildings. Active operations on concrete work of lock construction were suspended early in December by severe weather and high water, and after that time were limited to the foundations of the permanent buildings.

CAPTAIN H. BURGESS, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., Louisville, Ky., has furnished the following details in regard to the tributaries of the lower Ohio River, etc., the information following representing operations in 1905:

Improving Falls of Ohio River at Louisville, Ky.—The project for this work contemplates the enlarging of the easterly end of the Louisville and Portland Canal so as to provide a capacious basin or harbor wherein tows may be arranged preparatory to entering or leaving the canal. The main channel over the "Falls," known as "Indiana Chute," is to be straightened, and the water flow concentrated so as to afford an open-river channel, with a depth of 8 feet when that stage of water is shown by the upper canal gauge.

Operations during the past year were restricted to preparations for the construction of 1,000 feet of Boule dam and contract work on the metal work therefor, the removal of a comparatively small quantity of disrupted rock from the enlargement at the head of the canal and the repair of Wave Rock and Willow Point dikes, Indiana Chute.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1905, 1,482 steamboats, barges, etc. carrying 509,942½ tons of freight, passed over the "Falls," via the Indiana Chute.

Louisville and Portland Canal.—The original canal was constructed by a private corporation in which the United States was a stockholder. Subsequently, Congress authorized the purchase and entire control of the canal, and since that time the canal and locks have been enlarged and greatly improved. The locks are combined, consisting of two chambers, each chamber being 350 feet long and 80 feet wide. The canal is available for traffic and commerce at all stages of water less than 12.7 feet, upper canal gauge, and serves to permit free navigation around the Falls of the Ohio at stages of water when boats can not pass through the open channel.

During the past fiscal year a total of 4,727 passenger boats, towboats, coalboats, barges and small craft, passed through the canal, carrying 732,607½ tons of freight and 10,779 passengers. In addition to the work of passing this traffic through the canal and locks, the usual dredging and ordinary repair work necessary to keep the canal in good condition was done.

Green and Barren Rivers, Ky.—The system of improvements on these rivers provides slack-water navigation with a minimum depth of about 5 feet, from Spottsville, Ky., to a short distance above Brownsville, Ky., on Green River, and to Bowling Green, on Barren River, in all about 210 miles. The work of constructing one more lock and dam (No. 6) in Green River, to extend slack water to Mammoth Cave, Ky., was practically completed by the close of the calendar year 1905.

The work accomplished during the year included the passage of traffic through the five locks in Green River and one lock in Barren River, together with the dredging, snagging, and other current repair work necessary to maintain the system in good navigable condition. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1905, 4,321 steamboats, barges, etc., passed Lock No. 1, Green River, carrying 466,015 tons of freight.

Rough River, Ky.—The permanent improvements on this river consist of a lock and dam located about eight miles above the mouth of the river, near Livermore, Ky., and afford slack-water navigation to Hartford, Ky., for boats having a draft not exceeding 4 feet, and 127 feet long and 27 feet wide. The only work of importance during the year was the passage through the lock of 697 steamboats, barges, etc., carrying 55,333 tons of freight.

Wabash and White Rivers.—The only permanent improvement in these rivers is the lock and dam at Grand Rapids, Wabash River, 92½ miles above its mouth; the available capacity of the lock is, length 214 feet, width 52 feet. Traffic through the lock during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1905, comprised 1,397 boats, etc., carrying 8,025 tons of freight.

MAJOR GEORGE A. ZINN, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., has furnished the following summary of the work accomplished on the rivers forming the Wheeling, W. Va., district, during the calendar year 1905:

Ohio River.—The year 1905 was unusual in that towboats with tows were able to pass down the Ohio River each month. This stage of water interfered considerably with construction work, and the progress made was, therefore, unsatisfactory.

Dam No. 8.—The T. A. Gillespie Company, of Pittsburg, Pa., has the contract for building lock and guide walls, work under which was commenced July 1, 1904. At the close of the year the entire river wall, 560 linear feet of foundation for and 550 linear feet of land wall, foundation for and 235 linear feet of upper guide wall, and 90 linear feet of upper gate track were completed. The lock chamber was paved for about 400 linear feet.

Dam No. 11.—The building of the lock and guide walls was commenced July 16, 1904, under contract entered into with the Aetna Construction Company, of Wheeling, W. Va. At the close of the year 315 linear feet of land wall, the walls for lower gate recess, and 325 linear feet of foundation for and 215 linear feet of lower guide wall were completed. About 125 linear feet of lower gate track was completed for two-thirds its height.

Dam No. 13.—Work on the lock and guide (part) walls was commenced August 1, 1901, under contract with The Sheridan–Kirk Contract Company, of Nicholasville, Ky. Under this contract the following work was completed: the river and land walls, gate recesses, and tracks of the lock. About 56 linear feet of lower guide wall, 500 linear feet of paving for lock chamber, and the power house foundation were also completed.

Plans were completed and proposals received for building the dam, except bear traps, and contract awarded to The Hollerbach & May Contract Company, of Evansville, Ind.

Dam No. 18.—The lock is completed, except machinery and gates.

A contract was entered into May 18, 1905, with The Baker Contract Company, Inc., of Pittsburg, Pa., for building the dam, except bear traps. Work under this contract was commenced June 1st, and about 360 linear feet of navigation-pass foundation completed.

Kanawha River.—Such repairs as were necessary to keep the 10 locks and dams in good condition were made. The new guide cribs for Locks Nos. 2 and 3 were practically completed.

Little Kanawha River.—The Government purchased Locks No. 1, 2, 3 and 4 from the Little Kanawha Navigation Company, and took charge of same November 1, 1905, on which date tolls were abolished. These locks are in a bad condition, and preparations are in progress for making the necessary repairs. Lock No. 5, which was built by the Government, was kept in good condition and operated when the stage of water would permit.

LIGHTHOUSE SERVICE.

COMMANDER JAMES H. OLIVER, U. S. Navy, Lighthouse Inspector, Fourteenth District, has furnished the following data for the year 1905:

The Fourteenth Lighthouse District extends on the Ohio River from Pittsburg to Cairo, in all 966 miles; on the Kanawha, 73½ miles; on the Tennessee, 255½ miles; all told, 1,295 miles, and embraces all aids to navigation within these limits. Inspector in Charge, COMMANDER JAMES H. OLIVER, U. S. N., who relieved LIEUTENANT-COMMANDER A. P. OSBORN, U. S. N., as Inspector, October 15, 1905. There are in the district:

|---|---|
| Post lights | 499 |
| Floating lights | 39 |
| Day marks | 9 |
| Steam tender Golden Rod, for inspection and supply | 1 |
| Bridges over the navigable streams of this district, whose lighting comes under the supervision of this office | 199 |

The lights of the district were all painted and supplied during the year and left in good condition. There were some changes made by shifting lights on account of the channel changing, all of which were made known to the steamboat interests by advertising. The lights were well and faithfully tended, and few complaints were received.

There were 4 lights established; 3 discontinued; 29 reset; 14,993 trees cut (over 4 inches), and some 22 acres of brush cleared away.

The Golden Rod steamed some 6,100 miles in the discharge of her duties, and secured for the winter in the Louisville and Portland Canal.

THE CITY OF CINCINNATI.

The City of Cincinnati, bordering on the Ohio River, which represents a line between States, is deprived of the significance which it really has in comparisons of population, for the reason that a large portion of this centralization is separated from the records of the city corporation. The city proper and the adjacent belongings represent considerably over 500,000 of population, probably more than 550,000. The growth is not rapid. The locality is one of steady and substantial progress in development. The climate is healthful and agreeable. The surroundings are interesting to the observer for the variety and picturesqueness of scenery and conditions. The facilities for rapid transit in and about the city are unexcelled.

The industrial activities of this locality largely represent manufacturing operations, covering a wide range of lines and interests. The number of establishments, large and small, reaches about 8,000. The capital employed is about $150,000,000. The value of real estate occupied is about $75,000,000. Number of hands employed, about 120,000. Value of product in 1905, about $330,000,000. In various lines our city leads, and in many others is notably prominent, in comparison with other manufacturing centers. In the past ten years there has been decided industrial growth, as evidenced by the increase in the yearly comparisons of value of local manufactures, while the average of prices has been lowered.

No other large city in the country equals Cincinnati in value of its output of local factories in proportion to population. No other city enjoys a higher reputation for the quality of its products, which find distribution to other markets of the world.

Much has been done in the past by manufacturing establishments at Cincinnati in furnishing products for exportation to foreign markets, and in this there is an increasing volume of operations, and enlargement of lines of articles for such distribution. The high reputation acquired for our products, with the favorableness of cost, are elements calculated to secure a further expansion in this direction.

The proximity of this industrial center to sources of supply of raw materials that enter into the production of staple products of commerce forms a basis for advantageous and profitable operations of manufacturing establishments. This applies especially to iron, coal, hardwood, salt, etc.

Cincinnati is the largest city near the center of population of the United States. Its resources for fuel are the regions of Pittsburgh, Virginia, West Virginia and Ohio, available by cheap water and rail transportation. This fuel is of the highest grade for steam-producing purposes, as well as for domestic uses.

Cincinnati commands not only the advantages of the great railway systems centering here, diverging in all directions, and through their connections reaching all sections of the country with shorter average distances and lower average cost than any other large city, but also has the benefit of the water transportation afforded by the Ohio River and tributaries, and its connection with the Mississippi River and tributaries, thus combining incomparable facilities and advantages for the movement of materials and products of industry. It is especially favorably situated with reference to trade with the West Indies, Central America, South America, etc.

A recent computation in regard to relative cost of freight from points of origin to all parts of the United States resulted in the following comparisons of averages per 100 pounds: From Cincinnati, 81 cents; Chicago, 84 cents; St. Louis, 88 cents; Minneapolis, $1.22. A similar computation applicable to a radius of 600 miles from the point of origin gave the following averages per 100 pounds: From Cincinnati, 66 cents; Chicago, 73 cents; St. Louis, 75 cents; Minneapolis, $1.11.

Cincinnati is the central market for hardwood lumber from the forests of Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia. The development of iron and steel production in Alabama and Tennessee brings this market into ready command of these products from sources of lowest cost. Incident to such facilities, this city has always had high-class skilled labor.

The many lines of prominent industry in this city include the manufacture of clothing, shoes, soap, leather, harness and saddlery, vehicles, furniture, machinery for woodwork and all other purposes, machine tools, office and bank equipments, veneering, regalia and lodge goods, school books, lithographic and other high-class printing, printing inks, whisky, beer, pork and beef products, pianos and other musical instruments, electrical equipments, decorative pottery, cooperage, etc. It is the most prominent market in the distribution of White Burley tobacco. It leads in the manufacture of various lines of products.

Cincinnati is one of the best paved cities in the country, its streets the cleanest, the drainage the best. It is provided with a system of electric transit facilities which has no superior, and is believed to be not equaled elsewhere in the United States. This is attended with transfer privileges of an exceptionally favorable nature. The city is well provided with public parks, which with the suburban regions easily accessible by the electric and steam car lines and river steamers, afford the masses excellent opportunities for outing trips and recreation.

The educational facilities of Cincinnati are superior, including all the branches of free public schools, from the higher courses of the University, the colleges of law, medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, technology, theology, etc. The Art Academy and College of Music are of highest repute in the country. The libraries, reading rooms and museums afford admirable privileges. The many clubs promote literary, political, business and social interests and friendly intercourse.

Cincinnati is well provided with places of entertainment, including its great Music Hall and many theatres. Its free concerts in the parks are a special feature. Its suburban resorts, accessible by street railway and by river steamers, and its incomparable Zoological Gardens, are attractions of much merit.

Cincinnati has the finest fountain in the country, the gift of a private citizen, Mr. HENRY PROBASCO. Its public-spirited citizens have been and are numerous, contributing to the welfare of the city through the benefits to be derived from parks, from schools of art and of music, from the erection of a great Music Hall and Art Museum, from hospitals and fresh air homes, flower market, and in many other ways advancing the higher interests of the community through their munificence and intelligent consideration. The city is provided with splendid municipal and federal buildings, and a Chamber of Commerce Building of surpassing architectural impressiveness, with a large and increasing number of high class, modern business structures.

Cincinnati is provided with the best of police and fire protection, giving exceptional security to life and property.

Cincinnati is favored in banking facilities, savings institutions, and building associations.

The churches of Cincinnati embrace nearly every denomination, and are noted for being in charge of ministers of high order of intelligence and power in the dissemination and encouragement of religious and moral principles.

Cincinnati is provided with excellent hotels, and high-class restaurants, with comparatively moderate charges for services rendered.

The climate of Cincinnati compares most favorably with other sections of the country. It is not attended with the extremes of temperature experienced elsewhere. In healthfulness, the locality ranks with the best in the country. In food resources, the great variety, high quality, and comparative cheapness of products here available count favorably for the laboring classes. Similar conditions relating to economy in living expenses apply to clothing, fuel, gas, etc.

This locality is conspicuously an industrial one, and has thus retained and attracted to the place a working class, which commands the necessaries of life on an economical basis. With these conditions, and the extent of such population centralized here, with unexcelled facilities for transportation distribution, manufacturing interests find Cincinnati an especially advantageous locality.

Five bridges connect Cincinnati with the southern shore of the Ohio River, in Kentucky, by which means freight and passenger traffic in that direction is provided for, as well as important facilities for reaching residence localities for business men and the artisan classes. These bridges are from 1,489 to 1,648 feet in length, exclusive of approaches.

The Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce will give careful attention to any inquiries which may be made in regard to the opportunities of this locality for industrial enterprises. Real estate is abundantly available, favorably situated, and at relatively moderate cost.

THE CINCINNATI CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

[A sketch of the organization of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce and of incidents of a historical nature relating to it appeared in the Annual Report for 1902.]

The Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce represents one of the oldest and most prominent of the trading exchanges in the country. It possesses a building and an Exchange Hall unexcelled in attractiveness, and a monument to the enterprise of the business men of this city. Its members assemble daily, to effect transactions in grain, flour, hay, seeds, provisions, whisky, coal, country produce, lumber, real estate and various other lines, and to arrange for freights, insurance, investments, option deals, etc. The Exchange is provided with very complete telegraphic market information, covering prominent domestic and foreign markets, relating to breadstuffs, provisions, live stock, and other interests, as well as quotations of the New York Stock Exchange, weather reports, river stages, etc. Its facilities are promotive of the interests of manufacturers, of jobbers, of traders, of investors, and of many others. Its social advantages are important. It is an agreeable place to invite visitors sojourning in the city. It furnishes opportunity for citizens to greet and to listen to expressions from persons of eminence and celebrity.

The Chamber of Commerce maintains appropriate rules for the conduct and regulation of trade operations, and obligations incident thereto. It appoints inspectors, weighers, gaugers and measurers, and supervises and regulates their acts. It provides for the settlement of differences, disputes and misunderstandings arising between business men. It accords to non-members having controversies with members equal privileges and consideration in hearings of such cases, and fulfillment of obligations to non-members. It has acted on questions of freight inconsistencies and discriminations, securing relief locally from such unfavorable conditions.

The Chamber of Commerce as an Association is influential as a deliberative body. The organization, in general session and through the meetings of its Board of Directors, gives much of judicious attention and support to public measures, of a local and general nature. Its conservative treatment of such questions has secured for it marked recognition and consideration. It has from the beginning of the National Board of Trade maintained membership in that body, and contributed its share in the work accomplished by it in advancing public interests. It was prominent in organizing the Ohio State Board of Commerce. It was at the front in bringing into existence the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, the labors of which have been notably important in securing Governmental attention to slack-water navigation projects, which promise to be greatly beneficial to this region and this locality. It acted in advance of other bodies in the work of originating and promoting Weather Bureau plans, and in aiding the introduction of methods by which this service has become valuable beyond computation. It initiated action resulting in the organization of the Industrial Bureau of this city.

A book shall be kept, in which the names of all visitors, with their places of residence, and the names of the persons introducing them, shall be daily registered, the same to be open to the inspection of members. No person shall be introduced as a visitor who, being in arrears to a member upon any business transaction, refuses to arbitrate and adjust the same before the proper Committees of the Chamber of Commerce.

RULE 4. Pastors of Churches in Cincinnati and adjacent cities, on application of members of their respective congregations who are members of this Association, the Judges of the Courts, the Mayor, the heads of Charitable Institutions, not engaged in business of any kind, and Officers of the U. 5. No modifications of the terms of sale or character of the securities or other property, as announced and advertised, shall be allowed, nor shall a larger quantity of securities or other property be sold than advertised; but nothing herein shall be construed to prevent such securities or other described property from being in whole or in part withdrawn.

RULES GOVERNING PUBLIC WEIGHING.

RULE 1.—The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce shall have power to establish a Weighing Bureau, under the charge of a Chief Weigher, who shall have supervision of official weighing within the jurisdiction of the Chamber of Commerce.

RULE 2.—The Chief Weigher shall be appointed by the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce; in the first instance, at a time suitable to the inauguration of a Weighing Bureau, and thereafter on the second Tuesday of February of each year, or in case of failure to make such appointment at that time it may be made at any meeting thereafter. An appointment of Chief Weigher shall be revocable at any time by action of the Board of Directors.

RULE 3.—The Chief Weigher shall be authorized to appoint assistants to act as weighers under his supervision, such appointments to be subject to approval of the Board of Directors, or of a committee thereof empowered to act. The Chief Weigher shall have authority to suspend from service any weigher under his charge. In case of so acting he shall submit a statement explanatory of such action, with specifications in writing to the Board of Directors, which may authorize the Chief Weigher to dismiss the person complained of from service if this be deemed justifiable or called for under the evidence. He shall have supervision and direction of all weighers, and shall require from them such reports as are necessary incident to their service. He shall superintend all the scales, and shall see that they are kept in proper working order, and shall frequently test the correctness of such scales by standard weights. He shall cause to be kept a record of all such matters. He shall assign weighers to the places of weighing, and may transfer them from one location to another, as occasion may call for. He shall make such reports to the Superintendent and to the Board of Directors as may be designated by the Board of Directors. He shall collect or shall provide for the collection of fees for weighing, and shall pay into the Chamber of Commerce all such amounts; this provision not applying to charges for services of weighers represented by fixed amounts on a monthly basis. He shall furnish a bond as security for faithful performance of his duties, such bond to be in an amount required by the Board of Directors.

RULE 4.—Weighers shall keep correct records of the property weighed, in books kept for that purpose. Such records must show the kinds and amounts of property weighed, the dates on which it was weighed, the numbers and the initials of the cars from which it was weighed, or the cars into which it was weighed or transferred, and such other particulars as may be designated by the Board of Directors.

RULE 5.—Weighers shall examine the condition of every car they weigh, and shall make records accordingly, giving full particulars if the car be found in bad order in any way, and the nature of any damage, and whether the car was or apparently had been leaking, much or little.

RULE 6.—Weighers shall seal the cars with weigher's seals after the property has been weighed and loaded into the cars, such seals to be furnished by the Chamber of Commerce. It shall be misconduct for any person not a weigher to break a weigher's seal affixed to any car of grain or other produce. Cards shall be furnished by the Weighing Bureau, designating the initials and car numbers of cars officially weighed for shipment, indicating that such cars to which these cards are attached have been weighed by the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce Weighing Bureau. Such cards shall be attached by the weigher to all officially weighed outgoing cars.

RULE 7.—Weighers shall make daily reports to the Chief Weigher, with such details as may be required by him for maintaining a complete record at the Weighing Bureau of all the work of the Weighers.

RULE 8.—The Chief Weigher shall be paid a salary by the Chamber of Commerce, to be fixed by the Board of Directors. The weighers under his charge shall be paid salaries by the Chamber of Commerce, to be fixed by the Board of Directors, and to be graded according to the importance and responsibilities of services and location, under recommendation of the Chief Weigher.

RULE 9.—Weighers shall be furnished to private elevators and private warehouses on application of proprietors thereof, and upon approval of the Board of Directors; and for such services of weighers they shall make payments to the Weighing Bureau on a monthly salary basis, to be fixed by the Board of Directors, but in no case to exceed sixty dollars per month.

RULE 10.—Superintendents of public elevators and superintendents of public warehouses may be appointed official weighers, without expense to the Chamber of Commerce or the Weighing Bureau. Weighers thus appointed shall act under the full control, supervision and direction of the Chief Weigher. For services of such weighers there shall be charged and paid into the Weighing Bureau the regular fees for all weighing done by them. They shall make reports to the Chief Weigher in the same manner required of all weighers under his charge.

RULE 11.—In all cases where railroads entering Cincinnati shall establish, maintain and operate at their own expense suitable wagon scales, convenient to their regular unloading yards, and shall be represented by membership in the Chamber of Commerce, weighers shall be stationed at these scales by the Weighing Bureau. Sums sufficient to pay the salaries of weighers so furnished shall be paid by the railroad companies to the Weighing Bureau, and weighers so furnished shall be under the supervision and direction of the Chief Weigher, and shall make reports to the Chief Weigher, and for services of such weighers there shall be charged and paid into the Weighing Bureau the regulation fees, and such weighers shall in all respects act as required of other weighers.

RULE 12.—There shall be a number of weighers unassigned to any location sufficient to act in weighing grain, hay and other commodities where a weigher is not continuously located.

RULE 13.—All wagons to be used in the removal of contents of a car to be weighed must be weighed empty prior to loading from the car, and such wagons must be stripped of all movable covers, tarpaulins or other articles. All boxes attached to such wagons must be opened and inspected by the weighers before such wagons are weighed. Empty wagons must be weighed as often as the weigher requires. No wagon shall be allowed to go to cars after 6 o'clock P. M., or before 6 o'clock A. M., without the weigher having been notified of such intention and giving consent thereto. No sacks shall be allowed to be weighed in empty wagons.

RULE 14.—When weighing in carload lots on private track scales, weighers shall weigh gross and tare on the same day, and if any weather changes between time of weighing gross and tare during same day, then cars must be reweighed. If a car cannot be transferred on day of weighing gross, it must be reweighed on the day of transfer.

RULE 15.—When contents of a car are to be weighed on wagon scales, or at places where a weigher is not continuously located, the unloading must be completed by the buyer by or before the close of the day following the starting of the unloading, unless longer time be authorized by the Chief Weigher. Under any delay beyond the time so specified or authorized the car shall be closed and sealed by the weigher, and there shall be a charge of two dollars per car per day for the period of such delay, to be paid by the buyer to the Weighing Bureau.

RULE 16.—The charge for weighing shall be as follows: Where a weigher is continuously located, fifty cents per car for grain and one dollar per car for hay; where a weigher is not continuously located, one dollar per car for grain and for hay.

RULE 17.—Where weighers are furnished to private elevators and private warehouses, the proprietors thereof shall, in addition to the monthly salary payment to the Weighing Bureau, pay fifteen cents per car for grain weighed in, and thirty cents per car for hay weighed in; these additional payments to apply toward cost of maintenance of the Bureau.

RULE 18.—The fee for weighing shall be paid by the shipper. Where the fee is one dollar per car for weighing grain, the seller may charge the buyer one-half of the weighing fee. On all transactions representing purchases on track or to arrive, when bought on Cincinnati weights, or shipped on consignment on such terms, official weights shall govern, and official certificates shall be furnished the seller or consignor.

RULE 19.—Weighing of grain, hay and feed shall be at the place of delivery, unless otherwise agreed between seller and buyer; the place of delivery to include any point where the Chamber of Commerce maintains a weigher.

RULE 20.—Official certificates of weight shall be issued by weighers acting under the Chamber of Commerce, such certificates to be of such form as authorized by the Board of Directors. Official certificates must show the entire contents of each car unloaded, designating the number of bales or sacks, if so loaded, and must show the initial and car number from which the property was unloaded. For grain, hay or feed, certificates shall report also the condition of the car, with such other details as the nature of the case calls for. Original and duplicate certificates shall be furnished to the party ordering the weighing, and if the weighing is not by order of the seller he shall be entitled to receive a copy of the certificate.

RULE 21.—At all places where a Chamber of Commerce weigher is located, all grain, hay or feed shall be weighed when loaded out in carload lots, but there shall be no fee charged for this weighing out.

RULE 22.—Upon application or request of railroad companies maintaining wagon scales as provided for in these rules, and in consideration thereof there shall be furnished to such railroad companies by the Chief Weigher, official Chamber of Commerce certificates on any property that shall have been weighed by the Weighing Bureau, and in which the railroad companies applying for certificates may be interested; provided, however, that any railroad company not having established wagon scales as provided for in these rules, shall be furnished with official Chamber of Commerce certificates on any property that shall have been weighed by the Weighing Bureau, and in which the railroad company so applying may be interested, upon the payment of a fee of fifteen cents per car for all certificates so requested.

RULE 23.—No weigher acting under the Chamber of Commerce shall be permitted to weigh commodities in which he is interested as buyer or seller.

The Weighing Bureau began operations January 16, 1906, under these rules.

RULE 1. The Board of Directors shall have power to appoint a Flour Inspector, who shall receive compensation for inspection services by fees charged and collected by him, or by employment by the Chamber of Commerce under a fixed salary, as may be determined upon by the Board of Directors. If the service be performed under salary arrangement the fees for inspection shall be paid into the treasury of the Chamber of Commerce. The Flour Inspector shall give bond to the satisfaction of the Board of Directors for faithful performance of his duties; such bond shall provide for and be surety for damages assessed against him by the Flour Inspection Committee. The Board of Directors shall have power to suspend or dismiss an Inspector at any time. An Inspector shall not be directly or indirectly engaged in the Flour trade.

The Flour Inspector, if appointed and serving on a salary basis, shall perform all clerical work incident to his official duties; he shall collect all inspection fees due for his services, and shall account to the Chamber of Commerce for all moneys collected by him for inspection, or from other sources, such settlements with the Chamber of Commerce to be made at the end of each week. On the first day of each month he shall render a statement to the Superintendent of the Chamber of Commerce, showing the number of barrels or sacks of flour inspected during the preceding month, with names of persons for whom the inspections were made, and the amount collected and remaining due, with names of persons so represented. He shall furnish such other information pertaining to his office as the Board of Directors may call for. He shall keep an accurate record of his inspections, which shall be available at all times for examination of the Superintendent of the Chamber of Commerce, or of any person acting for him. All expenses, including employment of deputies or assistants, incurred by the Inspector in the performance of his official duties shall be assumed and paid by him.

RULE 2. The Inspector shall, when directed, carefully inspect Flour submitted to him, and decide on its grade and soundness, being governed by the standards furnished by the Flour Inspection Committee, and may brand it, using stencils indicating grade and Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce inspection, and the month in which it is inspected in numerals. An appeal may be taken to the Flour Inspection Committee from the decision of the Inspector, and he shall brand the Flour according to the decision of said committee.

RULE 3. The Inspector, failing to grade Flour in accordance with the standards furnished, shall be liable for any damage resulting from such failure, and shall be subject to pay such fines as the Flour Inspection Committee may deem proper to impose.

RULE 4. Flour offered for inspection or examination shall be placed in such a position that it may be carefully examined by the Inspector; and should the owner or buyer, upon removing the Flour to his store or warehouse, find any of it not inspected, it shall be the duty of the Inspector to complete the inspection of said Flour upon the request of either the owner or buyer.

RULE 5. The fee for inspection of Flour shall be two (2) cents for each barrel inspected, to be paid by the receiver or owner. Flour drawn from the barrels shall be disposed of for account of the Chamber of Commerce, if inspection service is by salary, otherwise for account of the Inspector.

RULE 8. The Inspector shall, without extra charge, weigh at least one (1) barrel of each twenty-five (25) barrels inspected, when packed in wood, or an equivalent amount when packed in sacks, and if found to be below the weight of the standard weight of the package, he shall not brand it but shall notify the party who ordered the inspection.

RULE 9. The standard weight of a barrel of Flour shall be one hundred and ninety-six (196) pounds net. When Flour is sold in sacks, and sacks included, the gross weight shall be considered as actual weight, and in collating the result any overweight shall be taken to offset an equal amount of light weight.

RULE 10. Any defacing or changing of any Inspector's brand or marks placed by him on barrels or sample bags, by any person or persons, shall be reported by the Flour Inspection Committee to the Board of Directors; but the Inspector's brands on the barrels may be entirely removed, leaving the Flour to stand the same as if it had never been inspected.

RULE 11. Sales of Flour shall be for cash on delivery, unless otherwise agreed. If delivery is delayed for convenience of buyer, the terms shall be cash on presentation of the bill. If payment of bill is refused for supposed light weight or damage, or error in the account, no greater amount shall be withheld than the damage, loss or error claimed.

RULE 12. When Flour is sold by sample or grade guaranteed, it must be inspected at the place where sold (there being no agreement to the contrary), and if not equal to sample, seller shall be compelled to furnish flour equal to sample or to make satisfactory settlement with the purchaser. If no agreement can be made, the settlement shall be determined by the Flour Inspection Committee, whose decision shall be binding.

RULE 13. A rejection of Flour shall not be valid unless notice thereof in writing shall be given the seller within forty-eight hours after the delivery. In case of Flour at railroad depots, wharves, or general storage warehouse, delivery of the railroad notice or order on the railroad company or warehouse to the purchaser shall constitute a tender of delivery.

RULE 14. Flour shall not be considered in merchantable condition unless in good barrels and head-lined, or in good sacks. Flour when sold in barrels and not head-lined may be head-lined by the buyer at an expense not to exceed two (2) cents per barrel, at the expense of the seller, unless otherwise agreed.

RULE 15. All Flour sold at railroad depots, or river or canal landings, shall be at the risk of the buyer after six o'clock in the afternoon of the day following the day on which the order is given for the same.

A majority of the committee shall constitute a quorum, and a decision of a majority of those present shall be final and binding.

RULE 21. It shall be the duty of the Flour Inspection Committee to exercise general supervision over the inspection. They shall, each year, within two weeks after their appointment, establish standards of Flour for the following year, and secure and place in boxes in the Exchange Hall, for the use of the Inspector and dealers, and every three months renew fresh standards, but not with a view of changing the standards established.

Any Inspector agreed upon by parties to a transaction, shall be regarded as a regularly authorized Inspector, subject to the rules of the Chamber, and the Committee on Provisions shall constitute the committee on reference.

RULE 2. Pork products packed between November 1st and March 1st shall alone be classed as "Standard."

RULE 3. In sales of fully cured Meats, or to be fully cured and delivered at a specified time, the seller must deliver in good faith according to contract, the Inspector to be the judge, who shall always be fully informed of the conditions of the contract before proceeding to inspect. Where sales of Dry Salted Meats are made without other specifications, it shall be considered that the sales contemplate Meats fully cured, the Inspector to be the judge.

RULE 4. In case of no specific agreement, the saltage allowed on Bulk Meats shall be one (1) per cent. from the 1st of November to the 1st of May; but should the buyer or seller object, the Inspector shall sweep as many drafts as he may consider necessary, and the percentage thus obtained shall be binding on both parties. But from the 1st of May to the 1st of November, the tare shall be ascertained by washing in cold water with a cloth, in case of no special agreement to the contrary. A drainage of four to five per cent. shall be allowed on Pickled Hams and Shoulders.

RULE 5. To determine the tare on Lard, the package shall first be weighed gross, the Lard then removed, and the empty package subjected to dry heat and drained; after which the empty package shall be weighed, and its weight deducted from the gross weight. The difference thus obtained shall be considered the net weight of the Lard.

RULE 6. Three hundred and forty pounds, net, shall be the average weight of a tierce of Lard upon which all settlements with contractors shall be based; but the number of packages the contract calls for must be delivered, and the difference, if any, settled at the market price on the day of delivery. At least two tierces in one hundred shall be stripped to determine the average tare.

RULE 7. Five hundred pounds, net, shall constitute a box of Cumberland Middles, and four hundred and seventy-five to five hundred and twenty-five pounds, net, shall constitute a box of all other English cuts of Middles, Shoulders and Hams, and all boxes containing over five hundred pounds of Meat to have a third strap around the box. All settlements of contracts shall be made on a basis of five hundred pounds per box, net, for Cumberland cut, and for all other English cuts of Meats.

Payment to be made as lots are delivered.

RULE 11. It shall be the duty of the Inspector of Provisions to weigh stuff when called upon, receiving therefor a fee of five (5) cents per each one thousand (1,000) pounds, in addition to the inspection fee—the party ordering the weighing to be responsible for the fee.

RULE 12. The Inspector shall keep a record, in detail, of every examination he may make, that he may be qualified to testify positively in event of a dispute.

RULE 13. For the examination of provisions sold as "Regular," it shall be the duty of the Inspector (or his deputed assistants), on receiving notice, to go to any packing house or warehouse in the city to examine provisions in such quantities as may be required, selecting the same in such manner, from the lots specified, as in his judgment will give a fair sample of the whole.

RULE 14. If upon examination it is found in all respects up to the requirements, according to the classification or grades adopted by the Chamber of Commerce, he shall issue certificates to that effect.

When necessary to remove property for the convenience of examination, it shall be the duty of the Inspector to send for the same, that a fair sample may be obtained.

In no case should a certificate be granted on samples delivered by the seller.

RULE 15. The Inspector shall be entitled to receive as compensation for examining Provisions, as follows: For Beef and Pork, in barrels, five dollars for the first five barrels, the Inspector furnishing labor and other requirements, and seeing that the property is properly repacked and rebrined, and fifty cents for each additional barrel examined—payable by the buyer if regular, and by the seller if rejected, and cartage when removed; and for Bulk, Bacon or Boxed Meats, fifteen cents per one thousand pounds, payable by the buyer. For inspecting Lard, five cents per package, payable by the buyer if accepted, or by the seller if rejected; and for stripping Lard, one dollar per package, to be paid by the buyer. Five barrels of Pork or five tierces of Lard to be sufficient to sample any lot sold, unless otherwise agreed between buyer and seller.

RULE 16. It shall be the duty of the Inspector, when requested by the owner, either at any packing house, warehouse, or in yards provided by the Inspector, to overhaul and inspect Provisions according to the qualifications and classifications authorized; two hundred pounds of meat, with abundance of good salt, to be repacked in each barrel, and cooperage to be put in good order. Each barrel of Provisions that is sound, sweet, and free from any and every defect, to have grade and date of inspection branded thereon, and the word "Repacked," as hereinafter specified; and any portion that is defective, to be branded in like manner "Rusty," "Sour," or "Tainted," as the case may be; the said brand to be placed, with the Inspector's brand, across the regular packer's brand, such Pork, according to the grade or quality, to be classed as "Repacked, 200 pounds."

RULE 17. The Inspector shall use metallic letters and figures or marking iron for his dates and classes of inspection.

RULE 18. It shall also be the duty of the Inspector to put his metallic brand or marking iron on samples of Provisions in packages that he inspects; and he shall pass no Pork products as "Regular" unless the real packer's name of the product contained therein is branded, according to these rules, on the head of each package.

RULE 19. In all cases of sales of Provisions as "Regular," the Inspector shall examine and inspect when called on; and if the property be up to the requirements, he shall issue a certificate simply for so many barrels or packages of product (naming it), for so many pieces or pounds of meat (naming the kinds).

RULE 20. Should the Inspector be called on to inspect Pickled Meats, and upon examination he should be of the opinion that the number of pounds required by these rules had not been packed, he shall not pass it as "Regular," but shall refer it at once to the Inspection Committee, who shall investigate, and if a satisfactory axplanation can be given or arrived at, they shall instruct the Inspector to proceed and inspect and pass it; but if not satisfactory to the Committee, they shall, in their judgment, make the fact known to the Provision Trade in any way they may think proper.

RULE 21. All "Hog Products" to be "Regular," must be from corn-fed slaughtered hogs, not frozen before cutting, and shall average not less than twelve pounds for Shoulders, or thirty pounds for Sides, and must run at least eighty per cent. sweet.

No hogs shall be killed on the same day on which they arrive at the pens of the slaughter-house.

On finding irregularity in any such entry, under investigation, it shall be the duty of the Superintendent to report accordingly to the Chairman of the appropriate Inspection Committee, whereupon such committee shall proceed to a formal investigation of all the facts in the case, and if it be found that the entry misrepresented the conditions attending the transaction, the said committee shall report to the Board of Directors the result of such investigation, upon which the Board may order that the offending party shall be reprimanded, or may order that an announcement be made on 'Change that the offending party has been found guilty of serious irregularity in reporting an entry for the Sales Book, which announcement shall constitute the penalty for such offense. Whenever it shall come to the knowledge of the Superintendent that any member of the Association calls in question the accuracy of an entry on the Sales Book, even though no formal challenge be made, the Superintendent may, at his discretion, proceed to investigate the case in the same manner and with incident action as if a formal challenge had been reported.

But nothing in this rule shall be construed to prevent a different settlement by mutual agreement. Settlement for future deliveries shall be made on the basis of sixty (60) pounds for tubs, and one hundred (100) pounds for firkins.

RULES GOVERNING THE EGG TRADE.

RULE 1. The following rules shall govern the purchase and sale of Eggs by and between members of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, other than specially provided by the Call Board rules.

RULE 2. Parties offering Eggs for sale under the Call shall, when required, name the State where the Eggs were put up or forwarded; or they may be offered by the designating mark, or the mark or name by which they were known in the trade. When Eggs are offered and purchased by their designating mark, or the mark or name by which they are known in the market, there shall be no difference as to quality or condition. The purchaser must accept the Eggs unless it is shown that they have been damaged by some accident, or put up with some evident intent to defraud, or have been held for speculation, or otherwise, out of the regular course of shipments.

RULE 3. Eggs shall be classified as follows: Firsts, Seconds and Thirds. This classification, together with naming the locality in which the Eggs are put up, shall be the form of offering Eggs on Call or elsewhere, when they are not known by marks. When sales are made under the classified Call, the Eggs shall be ready for delivery not later than 3 o'clock, P. M., and this rule shall apply to all deliveries unless otherwise agreed to by both buyer and seller; and such sales shall be deemed as binding unless the Eggs sold prove, upon inspection, previous to delivery, or within twenty-four hours thereafter, to be inferior to the grade specified in the sale. In the event of a difference upon the grade between buyer and seller, the Eggs shall be inspected by the Egg Inspector. It shall be the duty of the Inspector, in his return, to state whether the stock so inspected is Firsts, Seconds or Thirds, and this decision shall be final. If this decision is in favor of the seller, the buyer shall be bound to receive the goods and pay for the inspection. If the decision is in favor of the buyer, the seller shall pay for the inspection and pay the buyer five (5) cents per case penalty, or at that rate, and take back his goods, paying all cartage on the same. Parties desiring inspection must so inform the Inspector on or before 4 o'clock, P. M., on the day of sale. The Inspector must notify both buyer and seller of his decision within twenty-four hours of sale. This rule does not prohibit parties settling without the aid of inspection where both buyer and seller mutually agree to do so. If upon the first delivery to buyer, the goods so delivered do not appear, upon examination, to be of the grade sold, the seller may make a second delivery, or call in the Inspector, in which latter event he shall be barred a second delivery, and the decision of the Inspector shall be final. Both deliveries must be made on the day of purchase, unless otherwise mutually agreed to by both parties. In the event of an extra delivery, the seller shall pay all extra cartage. The same classification shall be used for limed or cold storage Eggs as for fresh, but the explanation of the classification shall be different. The form of the Call for limed or fruit-house Eggs shall be the same as for fresh, except that the word "limed" or "cold storage" shall be inserted between the words "for" and "eggs."

RULE 4. Eggs sold under the Call may be inspected at the option of the buyer or seller, and this inspection shall settle the loss finally. The proportion of packages to be taken out in all cases shall be three out of ten, four out of twenty, five out of thirty, seven out of fifty, and ten out of one hundred. The party who elects to have Eggs inspected shall pay for the same, except as provided under Rule 3.

RULE 5. Contracts made for future delivery, when the same are buyer's option, the buyer shall give the seller notice to deliver before 10 A. M., on the day of demand, and the seller shall deliver the same as spot sales, and if no demand for the goods is made by the buyer previous to the expiration of the contract, the seller shall give notice of his readiness to deliver, which shall be deemed a proper tender. The seller shall have the privilege of two deliveries, as in spot sales; inspection to be made the same as for Eggs sold for spot delivery. Eggs sold at seller's option, the seller shall also have the privilege of two deliveries, as at buyer's option.

RULE 6. All sales of Eggs by members of the Chamber shall be considered as cash, except otherwise agreed between buyer and seller; and the delivery to be regular shall be at the business house of the seller, or at any business house within the city limits, provided that the drayage shall not exceed fifty (50) cents on any one lot of twenty-five (25) cases or less, or two (2) cents per case on round lots of twenty-five (25) cases or over, unless there be a fraction of a load in said lot, which said fraction shall be counted the same as a full load; and if in excess of that amount, the difference shall be paid by the seller. In delivering round lots of twenty-five (25) cases or over, no number less than twenty-five (25) cases shall be delivered at any one time, unless there be a fraction of a load in the lot, in which case it may be delivered the same as if a full load.

RULE 7. All difference of opinion as to the construction of the foregoing rules shall be decided by the Egg Inspection Committee, unless one or more of said Committee be interested, in which case the Superintendent, or some member of the Chamber shall serve in the place.

RULE 8. In the case of the death or absence of the Inspector, or his inability from any cause to act, any member of the Egg Inspection Committee may fill his place and perform his duties.

RULE 9. The fees of the Inspector shall be ten (10) cents per case, on the lot so inspected; no fee to be less than twenty-five (25) cents. Loss on Eggs to be computed upon the basis of thirty (30) dozen to the case.

RULE 10. The daily official quotation for eggs shall be determined by formal action and vote of members of the local merchants doing a commission business in eggs, assembled on 'Change, the Chairman being privileged to vote in each instance, the price so decided upon to be posted on the official bulletin board. In case of a tie vote the Committee on Egg Quotations shall decide. Members when voting will be governed by prices which are obtained on "the street" only. No member shall be entitled to vote who buys eggs in territory contiguous to Cincinnati, based on the Cincinnati quotation, for the purpose of shipping to other markets.

MEMORIAL REPORTS.

The following reports of Committees of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce appointed to prepare memorial papers on the death of members, were adopted by the Association, and are printed by order of the Board of Directors:

GOTTLIEB MUHLHAUSER. DIED FEBRUARY 9, 1905.

Gottlieb Muhlhauser was born in Muckendorf, Bavaria, in 1836, and came to this country with his parents when but four years of age, his family settling at Portsmouth, Ohio. In the year 1845 they came to Cincinnati. At the age of thirteen, his father died, and from that time he was compelled to enter into the active labors of life.

He engaged in several enterprises, but in 1866, associated with his brother Henry, and Conrad Windisch, organized the Lion Brewery, which is today one of the largest industries in the city. He was President of this concern at the time of his death.

In the year 1869 he became a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and while in the last few years he was not regular in attendance at the daily sessions, on account of his feeble health, yet he had many dear friends among the membership.

Mr. Muhlhauser had many good qualities—the prompt fulfillment of all obligations was to him an important duty; he was kind by nature, modest in deportment, warm in his sympathies, and true to every trust. In his home life he was never so happy as when surrounded by the members of his family whom he dearly loved.

He died February 9, 1905, age 69 years, and in his death the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce has lost one of its oldest and most valued members, and the city of Cincinnati a true and enterprising citizen.

G. H. VONDERAHE. DIED MARCH 2, 1905.

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God in his infinite wisdom to remove from our midst our honored and worthy fellow-member, G. H. Vonderahe; and

Whereas, His pleasant, amiable disposition and upright character during his entire business career and social life, endeared him to all, and makes it eminently fitting that we should place upon record our feelings of appreciation of his worth, and regrets for his loss to us and his family; therefore be it

Resolved, That the sudden removal of our esteemed fellow-member from the community in which he lived and was engaged in business, creates a loss that is hard to bear, but the memory of his many good qualities in life will always remain, to console his family and many friends;

Resolved, That we herewith extend our deepest sympathy to the bereaved relatives and friends, and recommend that a copy of these resolutions properly engrossed, be sent to the family of our deceased friend and fellow-member.

JULIUS PFLEGER. DIED APRIL 2, 1905.

The death of Julius Pfleger occurred at his home in Cincinnati on April 2, 1905. He was born on September 25, 1843, and came to this city from Bavaria when twenty years of age. His father was a tanner, and the son acquired knowledge of this line of industry, which naturally led him to seeking employment of a nature with which he was familiar. His services in a large tannery here soon gained recognition for intelligence and efficiency, and later he was placed in charge of the leather store of the concern, his sterling qualities securing for him such advancement. Ultimately, he with associates, established a firm for the conduct of trade in leather, which operated under the name of Griess, Pfleger & Co., with which he was prominently identified until his death.

The character of Mr. Pfleger was such as to command high respect and fullness of esteem from all who had business and social relations with him. Governed by a high sense of the obligations between fellow-men which imply integrity of purpose and of action, he became in his career an admirable and commanding example of such characteristics. He was free from ostentation, and from ambition for personal recognition in the community, but the qualities which he possessed and displayed brought him into identity with various commercial, financial, benevolent and social organizations, which he maintained with full credit to himself and usefulness to the bodies with which he was thus affiliated. Such a man was an honor to the membership of the Chamber of Commerce, and the various other organizations with which he was connected.

In submitting this memorial report the committee recommends that a copy be furnished to the family of the deceased member, whose life and career has been one of exceptional value for those qualities of industry, of good intent, and of elements of integrity, which make his removal felt as a serious loss to the community.

JOHN N. WOOLLISCROFT. DIED APRIL 15, 1905.

John N. Woolliscroft was born at Galesburg, Illinois, and died at his home in Covington, Kentucky, April 15, 1905, in his fifty-ninth year.

Mr. Woolliscroft was a member of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce for twenty-five years, and was identified with the grain and hay trade throughout this period, during much of the time being especially prominent in operations in these lines in this market. He was master of questions of transportation applicable to the business in which he was engaged and the territory which it covered. With the knowledge which he acquired and possessed of the various features of the trade in which he was engaged, he was honest and earnest in all his business relations, which naturally invited the confidence, respect and personal affection, which was so generously accorded to him.

There was in his personality that which drew men toward him, for the amiability of his nature, the graciousness of his bearing toward others, and that manifest element of integrity which commands high recognition from all persons. To those of us who have known him intimately there has been special satisfaction in his companionship, and a value in the opportunities for contact with him, which is derived from close relationship to a noble nature.

In offering for the records of our Association, this brief expression concerning the fellow-member now removed by death, it is the wish of the committee that a copy be transmitted to the family of the deceased. And the committee feels impelled to mention that the home life of this good man was an ideal one, consistent with his lovable characteristics. The widow and children surviving him have the profound sympathy of those who have known him and who cherish his memory.

GROVE J. PENNEY. DIED JUNE 28, 1905.

Grove J. Penney was born in Jefferson County, New York, February 6, 1819, and died in Cincinnati on June 28, 1905, reaching the age of 86 years and nearly five months.

Mr. Penney came to Cincinnati about the year 1850, and became connected with the hardware trade. Later he engaged in the grain business, with which he maintained identity until his retirement from active operations, about two years prior to his death. He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce for forty-eight years—a period of such connection equaled by but few members.

From first to last, in his business career in this city, and as a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Penney was an example of correct methods. He bore the reputation among business associates as a man of honesty, and of honorable and upright treatment of affairs in his relations toward others, whether the conditions attending him were those of prosperity or otherwise. Under all the variableness of his situation with reference to results of business endeavor, his life and his actions reflected that sterling worth which commands the respect of fellow-men.

Acting upon a provision of the By-laws of the Association granting to the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce the privilege of electing one honorary member annually, by unanimous vote, such distinction was conferred upon Mr. Penney in 1901.

In offering these expressions for the records of the Chamber of Commerce the committee recommends and requests that a copy be transmitted to the widow of the deceased member.

VAL P. COLLINS. DIED AUGUST 18, 1905.

Mr. Collins was born in Maysville, Kentucky, March 8, 1838, and received a common school education at a private school in that city. He followed the printing and binding trade in his early days, and at eighteen went to Minnesota, following general trading and lumbering, returning to Maysville in 1859. He was a pioneer in the manufacture of oil from coal as was the process before the discovery of wells and natural deposits. A few years later he came to Cincinnati and engaged in the commission and wholesale business, soon devoting his time to river transportation in coal and iron, following this line of work during the rest of his life.

In 1868 he married Hattie Gates, and moved to Covington, Kentucky, and in 1884 took up his residence in the fine old home at 1559 Garrard street, where he died August 18, 1905, leaving a widow and four children. During his residence in Covington he served eighteen years as a member of the School Board, the greater part of this time as its President, being several times nominated by both parties.

In the death of our associate, Val P. Collins, the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce has lost one of its oldest and most valued members, a wise counsellor, a man of excellent habits, of unusually pleasant demeanor, happy and cheerful disposition, and honorable in every sense of the word. His private life was of an exemplary character, and his heart was filled with charity.

His family has lost a kind and affectionate husband and father, leaving an aching void by their fireside which can never be filled. His associates of the Chamber of Commerce extend to them their sincere sympathy and assure them that no one stood higher in their love and respect, or will be more greatly missed.

We ask that this tribute be spread upon the minutes of the Chamber of Commerce, and a copy of the same be transmitted to the family of the deceased.

JULIUS FREIBERG. DIED DECEMBER 7, 1905.

The committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to draft a suitable memorial on the demise of our esteemed member, Julius Freiberg, have the honor to present the following:

Julius Freiberg, an Honorary Member of this Association, who was called from earth to his eternal rest on Thursday, December 7, 1905, at the ripe age of eighty-two years, has paid Nature's debt, leaving a glorious heritage of an upright life, exemplary not alone in his conduct as a merchant and leading manufacturer of our city, but also did he leave the impress of his honorable and useful career as a citizen upon the city of his adoption, through the many channels of his busy life.

We feel confident there is no exaggeration in asserting that no merchant, manufacturer or citizen of our beloved Cincinnati has contributed more to its good name, its development, growth and prosperity, than did he.

The thousands of denizens whom he helped by employment and thus ennobled honest labor, will, with us, bear testimony that his pleasant smile, his cheery words, his manly hand shake, will ever remain a sweet and pleasant reminder of his good and noble life.

In all that appertains to the qualities of a peerless merchant, he was indeed a true ideal. His word was equal to his bond, and all who had the good fortune to have had business connections with him will bear uniform testimony to his high integrity of character, his unflinching honesty and loyalty to each and all of his obligations.

In his demise, we have indeed lost a strong pillar of our association. He became a member of our Chamber on January 7, 1861, and so impressed himself upon the membership by a career of rectitude and usefulness, that the Chamber on September 4, 1894, conferred upon him the highest honor within its gift, that of Honorary Member for life.

It is not alone his career and conduct as a member of our Chamber that we can proudly point to, but likewise in the capacity of his cosmopolitan citizenship, he was ever ready to serve the best interests of the municipality, supporting liberally every measure for the advancement and improvement of the city of his residence.

Already in the year 1872 the good people of Cincinnati recognized his unimpeachable uprightness and sound judgment, and elected him a member of the Ohio Constitutional Convention of 1873, and during the whole time of its prolonged session, he faithfully and conscientiously attended the duties of that distinguished assemblage; and our honored fellow-citizen, Hon. Rufus King, its presiding officer, frequently extolled in high terms the able assistance and wise counsel which Mr. Freiberg gave and contributed to the deliberations of that convention.

He served as a member of the Board of Sinking Fund Trustees from 1896 to 1901, by appointment of the Superior Court of Cincinnati, giving freely of his time and talents to the best interests of our city, and constantly studying hard and advising frequently with our leading public men and financiers as to the best and most useful policies and methods to pursue in order to promote and further elevate the already high credit of our city, resigning only when his failing health prevented him from any longer performing what he conceived to be his loyal duty.

He was naturally a leader and a strong one, and thousands of us who were fortunate enough to frequently serve with him in the consideration of public enterprises or charitable projects, or to succor the distressed in any section of our own or other countries, can testify that his strong and concise expressed convictions frequently carried the day and made men's minds yield to the lucid views, which he so pathetically urged in behalf of the suffering and needy.

If there was one virtue more than another possessed by our dear friend, it was his broad toleration. He loved all men irrespective of creed or nationality, and an appeal from suffering humanity from whatever source it came brought forth from Julius Freiberg, at all times, a hearty and generous response.

Though we deeply mourn his loss, his life work is well completed, and we are justified in thanking the Giver of all good things that such a man as Julius Freiberg lived.

In token of our sympathy, we respectfully recommend that this memorial be spread upon he records of the Chamber of Commerce, and that a copy thereof be transmitted to the family of the distinguished deceased.

It is further resolved that it be published in the daily papers of our city, and in closing this trfbute, offered with deep bowed hearts, well may we say of him,

"Many, my friend, have mourned for thee,
And yet shall many mourn,
Long as thy name on earth shall be
In sweet remembrance borne;
For while thine absence they deplore,
'Tis for themselves they weep,
That they behold thy face no more."

Respectfully submitted,

Edward Alexander Ferguson.

Tribute by a Special Committee of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, on Behalf of the Association.

The measure of a man's title to recognition and tribute is governed by the value of his service to fellowmen and for the common good. To him who gives to others unselfishly and freely the benefit of his talents and his attainments, to their advantage, advancement and elevation, in significant degree, belongs recognition, and to him may and should be accorded manifestations of tribute. Even though he may have passed from activities among men, such evidences of recognition and of tribute not only fulfill an implied obligation among appreciative members of the human family, but they afford inspiration to others in efforts and deeds which count for the general welfare.

Edward Alexander Ferguson, who has recently died at his home in this city, represents an instance in which the Chamber of Commerce may take special action, in view of the work which has distinguished his career, in its influence upon vital interests of the city and locality—and that which has been influential for the local advancement has given to other localities, near and distant, an abundant share of benefit from this work.

Cincinnati has the distinction of being the only municipality in this country which has built and owns a great railway, its conception and construction being occasioned by the needs of the business interests of the city, and at a time when such a facility was essential to its present and future position in the commerical world. With the laws of three States presenting difficulties to be met, the intelligent study and aggressive action of Mr. Ferguson relating to the questions thus involved found a way for overcoming the obstacles, and reaching ultimate success, in preparing the way for actual construction. And from step to step, which the history of this great and unique enterprise has disclosed, the genius of Mr. Ferguson has been applied persistently and effectively, and it may be said essentially, for without his relation to this work it is not certain that the important achievement finally reached could have been attained.

Today Cincinnati accords recognition to the great service which has been rendered to its industrial and investment interests by the construction of the Cincinnati Southern Railway, and this recognition is inseparable from a sentiment of tribute to Edward Alexander Ferguson, whose life was marked by an earnestness and devotion of purpose, untainted by selfishness, and distinguished for the attainments which his intelligence and mental training secured through the resources of force which he commanded. His courage and his conscience, which carried him forward in this great cause, in which our citizens were concerned, were elements of such heroism as wins and holds the respect of fellowmen.

Although not a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the position of Mr. Ferguson in this community in the promotion of its material interests, his eminent mastery of legal questions, and his service as a public benefactor, invite and deserve these expressions, now offered on behalf of the membership of this Association, in accordance with actions of its President and Board of Directors.
